Please note: This is a blended course consisting of an online section that must be completed by August 5, 2016, as well as daily seminar sessions held August 8-12, 2016. Both parts of the course are mandatory; students who have not completed the online section and the associated assignments will not be admitted into the seminar sessions.

Course description:

This course examines the relations between Canada and the EU, with attention to policy issues affecting the relationship and common policy challenges. After introductory sessions on external policy making in Canada and the EU it will examine various aspects of the relationship, including trade, security cooperation, as well as environmental and energy policies. Particular emphasis will be placed on recent events and debates in EU-Canada relations, such as the conclusion of the Comprehensive Economic and Trade Agreement (CETA) and Strategic Partnership Agreement (SPA), controversies about visa reciprocity, or responses to international crises. Guest speakers from Global Affairs Canada (GAC), the EU Delegation to Canada, or diplomatic missions of EU member states will be brought into the seminar.

At the end of the course, students will be familiar with the most important positions in advanced academic debates about external policy making in Canada and the EU. They will also be able to navigate practical aspects of conducting bilateral relations between both entities. Assignments will practice both academic reflection about these issues and policy-oriented writing styles.

Required readings:

Both the online section and the seminar sessions will be based on the detailed discussion of core readings. All required texts are on reserve in the MacOdrum Library or accessible via cuLearn. The course is designed for students who already possess a working knowledge of the EU's political system and decision-making processes, as well as a basic understanding of Canadian foreign policy making. Students without this kind of knowledge are advised to obtain a general textbook on the issue in question as source of reference. The following titles are recommended:

- K. R. Nossal, S. Roussel and S. Paquin (2015), The Politics of Canadian Foreign Policy, 4th edition (Montreal: McGill-Queen's University Press). [on Canadian foreign policy]

- N. Nugent (2010), The Government and Politics of the European Union, 7th edition (Basingstoke: Palgrave Macmillan). [on the EU]

Evaluation:

▪ Two online quizzes (10% each)	20%	(Due July 13 and 20, 2016)
▪ Participation in online debate	20%	(July 20-29, 2016)
▪ Policy brief or discussion paper	20%	(Due August 5, 2016)
▪ Participation in seminar sessions	20%
▪ Final paper	20%	(Due August 16, 2016)

Online quizzes: The first two online modules will be concluded by brief online quizzes to be completed on cuLearn. Each quiz will consist of five short-answer questions relating to the material discussed in the respective module. The quizzes have to be completed by July 13 and July 20, respectively. Students can complete the quizzes at a time of their convenience before the applicable deadline; they will have 1.5 hours (90 minutes) to complete each quiz. Only students who have completed both quizzes will be allowed to participate in the seminar sessions.

Participation in online debate: The third online module will include an online debate, conducted in a forum on cuLearn between July 20 and 29. The discussion will be based on recent general-audience books on Canadian foreign policy (see list below). In the debate, students will be required to play the role of one of the authors in a hypothetical advisory group brought together by the Canadian prime minister. This role-playing exercise will be followed by a debriefing. The debate will be structured by questions posed by the instructor. Students are expected to make at least five contributions to the forum, but are encouraged to participate more frequently. The first two contributions must be posted by July 24; three further contributions engaging in debate with the other students must be posted by July 29.

Policy brief or discussion paper: At the end of the fourth online module, students have to write a short policy brief or discussion paper (3-4 pages, single spaced). Topics for this assignment have to be selected from a list provided on cuLearn. Policy briefs take the form of a briefing note for a Canadian or European official for a hypothetical bilateral meeting; they must follow the Global Affairs Canada (GAC) “meeting note” template, provided on cuLearn. Discussion papers take the form of a brief essay that responds to a question about the academic literature on Canada-EU relations; a template for this assignment will likewise be provided on cuLearn. Topics for policy briefs or discussion papers must be selected by July 13; the assignment must be submitted by August 5. Students must be prepared for a short, five-minute presentation on the topic of their policy brief or discussion paper during the seminar sessions in the week of August 8-12.

Participation in seminar sessions: Seminar sessions are designed to follow an interactive format. Some sessions will make use of teaching methods that require active student participation, such as group work, debates, or role-playing. It is essential that all students do the required readings for each seminar session, bring copies of the required texts to class, and take the time to think about questions they would like to discuss about them. Participation marks will be assigned according to the quality and quantity of contributions.

Final paper: At the end of the course, students are expected to write a short scholarly paper (12-15 pages, double spaced) reflecting on an issue in Canada-EU relations. Papers may deal with the same issue on which a student has already written his/her policy brief or discussion paper. However, this assignment will have to deal with an original research question, formulated by the student him- or herself, and approved by the instructor. More detailed written instructions on the final paper will be provided on cuLearn and in class. Students are encouraged to discuss the precise research question for their final paper with the instructor during his office hours.

Submission of coursework:

All assignments have to be submitted using the online drop box in cuLearn. Comments and grades will be provided in the cuLearn grade book. Unless a medical (or equivalent) excuse is provided, late assignments will be penalized by two (2) percentage points per day (including weekends); assignments more than a week late will receive a mark of 0%.

Course schedule:

1. Orientation session

Participation in this orientation session is optional, but strongly recommended. Students not in Ottawa on July 4 may participate via videolink. Please contact Professor Hurrelmann by July 4 if this applies to you.

Academic Accommodations:

The Paul Menton Centre for Students with Disabilities (PMC) provides services to students with Learning Disabilities (LD), psychiatric/mental health disabilities, Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD), Autism Spectrum Disorders (ASD), chronic medical conditions, and impairments in mobility, hearing, and vision. If you have a disability requiring academic accommodations in this course, please contact PMC at 613-520-6608 or pmc@carleton.ca for a formal evaluation. If you are already registered with the PMC, contact your PMC coordinator to send me your Letter of Accommodation at the beginning of the term, and no later than two weeks before the first in-class scheduled test or exam requiring accommodation (if applicable). After requesting accommodation from PMC, meet with me to ensure accommodation arrangements are made. Please consult the PMC website for the deadline to request accommodations for the formally-scheduled exam (if applicable).

Religious Observance: Students requesting accommodation for religious observances should apply in writing to their instructor for alternate dates and/or means of satisfying academic requirements. Such requests should be made during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist, but no later than two weeks before the compulsory academic event. Accommodation is to be worked out directly and on an individual basis between the student and the instructor(s) involved. Instructors will make accommodations in a way that avoids academic disadvantage to the student. Instructors and students may contact an Equity Services Advisor for assistance (www.carleton.ca/equity).

Pregnancy: Pregnant students requiring academic accommodations are encouraged to contact an Equity Advisor in Equity Services to complete a letter of accommodation. Then, make an appointment to discuss your needs with the instructor at least two weeks prior to the first academic event in which it is anticipated the accommodation will be required.

Plagiarism:

The University Senate defines plagiarism as “presenting, whether intentional or not, the ideas, expression of ideas or work of others as one’s own”. This can include:

- reproducing or paraphrasing portions of someone else’s published or unpublished material, regardless of the source, and presenting these as one’s own without proper citation or reference to the original source;
- submitting a take-home examination, essay, laboratory report or other assignment written, in whole or in part, by someone else;
- using ideas or direct, verbatim quotations, or paraphrased material, concepts, or ideas without appropriate acknowledgment in any academic assignment;
- using another’s data or research findings;
- failing to acknowledge sources through the use of proper citations when using another’s works and/or failing to use quotation marks;
- handing in substantially the same piece of work for academic credit more than once without prior written permission of the course instructor in which the submission occurs.

Plagiarism is a serious offence which cannot be resolved directly with the course’s instructor. The Associate Deans of the Faculty conduct a rigorous investigation, including an interview with the student, when an instructor suspects a piece of work has been plagiarized. Penalties are not trivial. They may include a mark of zero for the plagiarized work or a final grade of F for the course.

Student or professor materials created for this course (including presentations and posted notes, labs, case studies, assignments and exams) remain the intellectual property of the author(s). They are intended for personal use and may not be reproduced or redistributed without prior written consent of the author(s).

Submission, Return and Grading of Term Work:

Written assignments must be submitted directly to the instructor(s) according to the instructions in the course outline. Late assignments may be submitted to the drop box in the corridor outside room 3305 River Building. Assignments will be retrieved every business day at 4 p.m., stamped with that day's date, and then distributed to the instructors. For written assignments not returned in class please attach a stamped, self-addressed envelope if you wish to have your assignment returned by mail. Final exams are intended solely for the purpose of evaluation and will not be returned.

Final standing in courses will be shown by alphabetical grades. The system of grades used, with corresponding grade points is:

Percentage	Letter grade	12-point scale	Percentage	Letter grade	12-point scale
90-100	A+	12	67-69	C+	6
85-89	A	11	63-66	C	5
80-84	A-	10	60-62	C-	4
77-79	B+	9	57-59	D+	3
73-76	B	8	53-56	D	2
70-72	B-	7	50-52	D-	1

Standing in a course is determined by the course instructor subject to the approval of the Faculty Dean. This means that grades submitted by an instructor may be subject to revision. No grades are final until they have been approved by the Dean.

Carleton E-mail Accounts: All email communication to students from the Institute of European, Russian and Eurasian Studies will be via official Carleton university e-mail accounts and/or cuLearn. As important course and university information is distributed this way, it is the student's responsibility to monitor their Carleton and cuLearn accounts.

Official Course Outline: The course outline posted to EURUS website is the official course outline.
