Academic Accommodations:

You may need special arrangements to meet your academic obligations during the term. For an accommodation request the processes are as follows:

Pregnancy obligation: Please contact me with any requests for academic accommodation during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist. For more details, visit the Equity Services website: carleton.ca/equity/wp-content/uploads/Student-Guide-to-Academic-Accommodation.pdf

Religious obligation: write to me with any requests for academic accommodation during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist. For more details, visit the Equity Services website: carleton.ca/equity/wp-content/uploads/Student-Guide-to-Academic-Accommodation.pdf

Academic Accommodations for Students with Disabilities: If you have a documented disability requiring academic accommodations in this course, please contact The Paul Menton Centre (PMC) at 613-520-6608 or pmc@carleton.ca for a formal evaluation. If you are already registered with the PMC, contact your PMC coordinator to send me your Letter of Accommodation at the beginning of the term, and no later than two weeks before the first in-class scheduled test or exam requiring accommodation (if applicable). After requesting accommodation from PMC, meet with me as soon as possible to ensure accommodation arrangements are made. Please consult the PMC Website for their deadline to request accommodations for the formally-scheduled exam (if applicable) www.carleton.ca/pmc

Plagiarism:

Plagiarism is presenting, whether intentional or not, the ideas, expression of ideas or work of others as one's own. Plagiarism includes reproducing or paraphrasing portions of someone else's published or unpublished material, regardless of the source, and presenting these as one's own without proper citation or reference to the original source. Examples of sources from which the ideas, expressions of ideas or works of others may be drawn from include but are not limited to: books, articles, papers, literary compositions and phrases, performance compositions, chemical compounds, art works, laboratory reports, research results, calculations and the results of calculations, diagrams, constructions, computer reports, computer code/software, and material on the Internet. Plagiarism is a serious offence.

Survivors of Sexual Violence

As a community, Carleton University is committed to maintaining a positive learning, working and living environment where sexual violence will not be tolerated, and survivors are supported through academic accommodations as per Carleton's Sexual Violence Policy. For more information about the services available at the university and to obtain information about sexual violence and/or support, visit: carleton.ca/sexual-violence-support

Accommodation for Student Activities

Carleton University recognizes the substantial benefits, both to the individual student and for the university, that result from a student participating in activities beyond the classroom experience. Reasonable accommodation must be provided to students who compete or perform at the national or international level. Please contact your instructor with any requests for academic accommodation during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist. <https://carleton.ca/senate/wp-content/uploads/Accommodation-for-Student-Activities-1.pdf>

COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course explores how people in different times and places have enacted the ideals of social justice and human rights. Students will learn about the events and debates that have shaped current practices of human rights, international legal frameworks for human rights, limitations of rights discourses, and movements for social justice by examining varied historical and social contexts. This class will ask students to think through some of the problems related to rights and justice, such as whether law is the best mechanism to promote human rights, whether rights can be applied globally, and how individual rights support or impede justice for social groups.

A key learning outcome students will take from this course is an ability to apply abstract concepts such as 'rights' and 'justice' using concrete examples. As such, classroom lecture and discussion will focus on specific instances and events that best exemplify how people tried to make sense of rights or justice in practice. Such examples will include discussions of the American and French Revolutions, Western colonialism and the rise of Western humanitarianism, settler colonialism in Canada and elsewhere, World War II and the Holocaust, the war on terror, the refugee crisis, movements to challenge gender-based violence, and systematic forms of racism such as housing discrimination and mass incarceration.

The course will also maintain a clear focus on experiential learning. The course assignments will ask students to explore the range of movements and organizations working for social justice and human rights. Students will be encouraged to look beyond the classroom to learn about how activists and professionals actually do the work of enacting social justice and human rights.

EVALUATION

Standing in a course is determined by the course instructor subject to the approval of the Department and of the Faculty Dean. This means that grades submitted by the instructor are not final until they have been approved by the Department and the Dean.

Assignment	Description	Due Date	Weight
Reading Quizzes	Completed online each week	BEFORE each lecture	10%
Reading Commentary	3-5 pages	October 1	10%
Book Analysis and Application	5-7 pages	October 29	20%
Rights and Justice in Practice Report	8-10 pages	December 3	30%
Final Exam	On lectures AND readings	TBD	30%

COURSE COMPONENTS*Reading Quizzes (10%)*

Reading is extremely important in this course and as such, students are expected to do all of the weekly required readings BEFORE each class. To help encourage weekly reading, students are required to complete a short quiz on the week's assigned readings. Quizzes will be posted on cuLearn and will open on Wednesdays at noon and close on Mondays at 2:00pm. There will be a quiz each week, excluding the first and last classes for a total of 10 quizzes (10 quizzes, worth 1 point each = 10%). Quizzes will be composed of multiple choice, true/false or short answer questions and you must get at least 50% correct in order to get full credit. Missed quizzes cannot be made up. Please ensure that you have a secure and reliable internet connection when completing the quizzes as they will be timed.

Reading Commentary (10%)

Students are required to write a reading commentary meant to develop their critical reading skills. Students may select any one of the weekly readings required for the course to use for this assignment. Commentaries should be 3-5 pages (12-point font, double-spaced with appropriate margins), and should follow the questions listed on the assignment sheet (instructions will be posted on cuLearn). Reading Commentaries will be due on October 1.

Book Analysis and Application (20%)

Students are required to read Hannah Arendt's classic book Eichmann in Jerusalem and write a critical reflection paper that analyses the author's argument and applies that argument to a contemporary problem. The paper should be 5-7 pages (12-point font, double-spaced with appropriate margins), and should follow the instructions outlined in the assignment sheet (instructions will be posted on cuLearn). Book analysis and application papers will be due on October 29.

Rights and Justice in Practice Report (30%)

To help students connect and apply what they learn about social justice and human rights to our contemporary world, they will be required to write a report on an organization, movement or group that is advocating for some form of social justice or human rights. The goal of the report is to show how the ideals of rights and justice are achieved (or not) in practice. The report should be 8-10 pages (12-point font, double-spaced with appropriate margins), and should follow the instructions outlined in the assignment sheet (instructions will be posted on cuLearn). The reports will be due on December 3.

Final Exam (30%)

There will be a final exam on the content covered in class and in the readings. The exam will be held during the final exam period and will be a proctored exam (including CUOL students). The date, time and location of the exam will be provided by Scheduling and Exam Services sometime in October. Distance learning students should contact CUOL to confirm their exam centre locations.

If you have questions about anything related to the course materials, assignments, due dates or marking, please email your assigned TA. TA assignments will be given in class and posted on cuLearn. For questions about accommodations or other personal concerns, please email the instructor (me). My standard policy is that I will try to respond within 48 hours during the week. Please use your Carleton email account for correspondence related to the course in order to ensure a response.

For all matters related to registration or program standing, please contact the department office.

Classroom policies

This course includes two sections, an in-class section and an online section managed by Carleton University On-Line (CUOL). This means that lectures and in-class discussions will be recorded and streamed online. While the majority of class time will be reserved for lecture, each class will include some discussion or group work. Participation in discussion is very important and helpful for the online section. However, because the discussion will be recorded, the instructor reserves the right to stop lines of discussion that are inappropriate, off topic or harmful. Please be respectful of your classmates!

Late Assignments and Extensions

Late assignments will only be accepted with valid documentation AND in consultation with me. As soon as you know that you will not be able to turn in an assignment on time, please contact me or your TA. All other late assignments will be assessed a standard late penalty of 5% per day.

Important: all assignments should be submitted via cuLearn. It is your responsibility to upload assignments BEFORE the deadline and in readable formats that are compatible with the cuLearn system (e.g. PDF, .docx, etc.).

Accommodations and Student Well-Being

I am happy to help arrange classroom and exam accommodations in conjunction with the Paul Menton Centre (PMC). If you know or think you might need accommodations (e.g. alternative exam accommodations, note taking, technological aids, etc.) please contact them as soon as possible.

There are many things that can come up during the course of a term that affect student well-being and I will be happy to work with you to ensure that you can both manage your well-being AND be successful in this course. Please contact the TAs, myself or any of the campus services listed above with any issue as early as possible. Accommodations become much more difficult after the fact.

General Policies

This course outline is a provisional document and the instructor reserves the right to change its contents based on the needs of the course.

Students are responsible for reading this document and being aware of all due dates and requirements listed herein.
