Academic Accommodations:

You may need special arrangements to meet your academic obligations during the term. For an accommodation request the processes are as follows:

Pregnancy obligation: write to me with any requests for academic accommodation during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist. For more details visit the Equity Services website: <http://carleton.ca/equity/>

Religious obligation: write to me with any requests for academic accommodation during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist. For more details visit the Equity Services website: <http://carleton.ca/equity/>

Academic Accommodations for Students with Disabilities: The Paul Menton Centre for Students with Disabilities (PMC) provides services to students with Learning Disabilities (LD), psychiatric/mental health disabilities, Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD), Autism Spectrum Disorders (ASD), chronic medical conditions, and impairments in mobility, hearing, and vision. If you have a disability requiring academic accommodations in this course, please contact PMC at 613-520-6608 or pmc@carleton.ca for a formal evaluation. If you are already registered with the PMC, contact your PMC coordinator to send me your Letter of Accommodation at the beginning of the term, and no later than two weeks before the first in-class scheduled test or exam requiring accommodation (if applicable). Requests made within two weeks will be reviewed on a case-by-case basis. After requesting accommodation from the PMC, meet with me to ensure accommodation arrangements are made. Please consult the PMC website for the deadline to request accommodations for the formally-scheduled exam (if applicable) at <http://carleton.ca/pmc/students/dates-and-deadlines/>

You can visit the Equity Services website to view the policies and to obtain more detailed information on academic accommodation at <http://carleton.ca/equity/>

Plagiarism

Plagiarism is presenting, whether intentional or not, the ideas, expression of ideas or work of others as one's own. Plagiarism includes reproducing or paraphrasing portions of someone else's published or unpublished material, regardless of the source, and presenting these as one's own without proper citation or reference to the original source. Examples of sources from which the ideas, expressions of ideas or works of others may be drawn from include but are not limited to: books, articles, papers, literary compositions and phrases, performance compositions, chemical compounds, art works, laboratory reports, research results, calculations and the results of calculations, diagrams, constructions, computer reports, computer code/software, and material on the Internet. Plagiarism is a serious offence.

COURSE DESCRIPTION: This course examines issues in criminal law and justice from criminological and social scientific perspectives. In addition to addressing theoretical matters, we will discuss many practical aspects of, and experiences in, the criminal justice system.

The course objectives are to advance your theoretical and empirical knowledge of criminal law and justice, and your analytical ability to critically examine related issues. The objectives also include thoroughly familiarizing students with the organizational components of policing, courts and the administration of justice in Canada.

Classes will typically involve a lecture. We will start some classes with a discussion of immediate issues in criminal law and justice (for example recent legal and policy-related decisions, or particular criminal acts that have occurred). Students are encouraged to pay attention to media sources, and to bring relevant items to the attention of the instructor and classmates. 'Media' in this context refers the print media, as well as radio, television, and the Internet.

During the course there will be several guest speakers who will address topics in the practical operation of the criminal justice system. In advance of these talks you will be asked to provide questions in writing for our guest speakers (i.e. police and criminal lawyer/s) so they can address topics that are of immediate interest to you. There will also be a field trip to the Ottawa courthouse (during class time).

REQUIRED TEXTS

1. Curt T. Griffiths Canadian Criminal Justice: A Primer. Fifth edition. Toronto: Nelson Education, 2015. This textbook can be purchased at the Carleton University bookstore. Be sure to purchase the correct edition: year of publication 2015 - fifth edition.

3. Nils Christie “Conflicts as Property,” British Journal of Criminology, (1977) 17:1-14. This article is available online.
4. Additional readings may be provided in class and/or made available via cuLearn.

EVALUATION

Standing in a course is determined by the course instructor subject to the approval of the Department and of the Faculty Dean. This means that grades submitted by the instructor may be subject to revision. No grades are final until they have been approved by the Department and the Dean.

Attendance 12%

Mid-term examination in class on Thursday 19 October. 2 hours. Closed book. 40%

Format: The exam will have a section of multiple choice questions worth 20%; and a section of True/False and short answer questions worth 20%.

Final examination during the final formal examination period- December 10-22 (Please note that examinations are normally held all seven days of the week). 2 hours. Closed book. 48%

Format: The final exam will have a section of multiple choice questions worth 19%, a section of True/False and short answer questions worth 19%, and an essay section worth 10%. (Note: grading of essays will include an evaluation of the content as it reflects students’ knowledge of, and ability to discuss, information and ideas presented in this course. Grading will also take matters of spelling, grammar, punctuation, and clarity of expression into account).

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

A detailed course schedule, including weekly topics, objectives, and readings, will be made available to students. More information about items and topics to be covered in the exams, and about evaluation procedures and criteria will also be provided in the weeks prior to examinations.

Please note that the week of October 23-27 is the fall break. There will be no class that week.

Class attendance is mandatory. It is your responsibility to be present in class, and for examinations. Any request for an extension must be supported by a medical certificate or other appropriate documentation. Students must complete both examinations in order to meet course requirements and to be eligible to pass the course.
