Academic Accommodations:

You may need special arrangements to meet your academic obligations during the term. For an accommodation request the processes are as follows:

Pregnancy obligation: Please contact me with any requests for academic accommodation during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist. For more details, visit the Equity Services website: carleton.ca/equity/wp-content/uploads/Student-Guide-to-Academic-Accommodation.pdf

Religious obligation: write to me with any requests for academic accommodation during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist. For more details, visit the Equity Services website: carleton.ca/equity/wp-content/uploads/Student-Guide-to-Academic-Accommodation.pdf

Academic Accommodations for Students with Disabilities: If you have a documented disability requiring academic accommodations in this course, please contact The Paul Menton Centre (PMC) at 613-520-6608 or pmc@carleton.ca for a formal evaluation. If you are already registered with the PMC, contact your PMC coordinator to send me your Letter of Accommodation at the beginning of the term, and no later than two weeks before the first in-class scheduled test or exam requiring accommodation (if applicable). After requesting accommodation from PMC, meet with me as soon as possible to ensure accommodation arrangements are made. Please consult the PMC Website for their deadline to request accommodations for the formally-scheduled exam (if applicable) www.carleton.ca/pmc

Plagiarism:

Plagiarism is presenting, whether intentional or not, the ideas, expression of ideas or work of others as one's own. Plagiarism includes reproducing or paraphrasing portions of someone else's published or unpublished material, regardless of the source, and presenting these as one's own without proper citation or reference to the original source. Examples of sources from which the ideas, expressions of ideas or works of others may be drawn from include but are not limited to: books, articles, papers, literary compositions and phrases, performance compositions, chemical compounds, art works, laboratory reports, research results, calculations and the results of calculations, diagrams, constructions, computer reports, computer code/software, and material on the Internet. Plagiarism is a serious offence.

More information on the University's Academic Integrity Policy can be found at:
<http://carleton.ca/studentaffairs/academic-integrity/>

Survivors of Sexual Violence

As a community, Carleton University is committed to maintaining a positive learning, working and living environment where sexual violence will not be tolerated, and survivors are supported through academic accommodations as per Carleton's Sexual Violence Policy. For more information about the services available at the university and to obtain information about sexual violence and/or support, visit:

carleton.ca/sexual-violence-support

Accommodation for Student Activities

Carleton University recognizes the substantial benefits, both to the individual student and for the university, that result from a student participating in activities beyond the classroom experience. Reasonable accommodation must be provided to students who compete or perform at the national or international level. Please contact your instructor with any requests for academic accommodation during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist. <https://carleton.ca/senate/wp-content/uploads/Accommodation-for-Student-Activities-1.pdf>

For more information on academic accommodation, please contact the departmental administrator or visit: students.carleton.ca/course-outline

Department Policy

The Department of Law and Legal Studies operates in association with certain policies and procedures. Please review these documents to ensure that your practices meet our Department's expectations.

<http://carleton.ca/law/current-students/>

Calendar Description:

Examination of how law defines, justifies, and addresses individual, collective and state violence: contemporary and historical case studies; theoretical inquiries into the relationship between law, legality and different forms of violence.

Prerequisite(s): fourth-year Honours standing.

Seminar three hours a week.

The Fall 2018 iteration of "Law and Violence" will concentrate on law, violence, and resistance by considering refugee and migrant camps and prisons, and various forms of resistance, including civil disobedience and political violence, on the one hand, and experimentation, including anarchist-refugee squats, on the other. We will use theoretical contributions (principally Habermas, Foucault, and Baudrillard) to explore the implications of such spaces, resistances, and temporalities.

Required Text: You are required to obtain the book just below. It is available as an e-book from Amazon.com

Bargu, Banu. Starve and Immolate: The Politics of Human Weapons. New York: Columbia University Press, 2014. Available as an e-book from Amazon.com . We will read the first chapter of it in the 3d week of seminar.

SEMINAR:

This is a fourth year honours seminar. As a seminar, there will be virtually no lecture component. I view it as an intensive ‘reading seminar’ or ‘reading group’ the success of which is dependent on you, each member of the seminar, as well as on me. I will attempt to guide the discussion where I think it needs guidance. I will also set the context for debates, where necessary, and, of course, I will let you know when I think your or other seminar participants’ interpretations of the literature and issues require reconsideration. But, this seminar is a completely collective project for which we are all responsible and it should be embraced as such by each of you. If you do not wish to be an active participant in a seminar in which you seriously study and discuss both theoretical and grounded literature, please don’t take this one!

You absolutely must read all required readings, carefully, for the seminar, before the seminar. The success of a seminar depends on informed, lively, and critical student participation. Regular attendance in seminar is necessary, but not sufficient, to constitute participation. The participation mark is a solid 25% of your overall mark so please make the most of it. The foundation for informed participation (not to mention evaluation and critique) is close study of the readings before the seminar in which they are assigned, coming to seminar with your readings and your summaries of the material along with questions and evaluations to be addressed in seminar.

EVALUATION:

Evaluation will be based on the following combination of seminar participation and written work, as follows:

1. Participation mark based on weekly seminar participation including discussion leadership. 25%

The participation mark is a composite mark evaluating your performance over the entire term and with respect to discussion leadership, weekly seminar participation, and discussion of the literature on the basis of summaries prepared for seminar each week. You are expected to participate in seminar on the basis of having read and reflected seriously on the literature and issues each week. Please come to seminar with your readings, your summary of the readings (see below), and a question, an objection, or an issue you would like to discuss and be prepared to discuss it with the seminar. Our discussion will focus on making sense of and evaluating the claims the literature makes.

You will be asked to lead the discussion with others one week during the term. The discussion leadership schedule will be determined early in the term.

2. Seven weekly summaries of the readings handed in at the beginning of seminar. 20%

Please prepare a summary (not an outline) of each reading for weeks 2 through 11. The summary of each reading should (ideally) be no longer than 1 page (single-spaced) but exceptions are noted in the weeks below. You must include a proper citation and your name. You must also use proper citation method in your summaries. Also, pose at least one question (on any of the readings) for the seminar possibly to address. Put this on a separate sheet, typed out twice, with your name on each half so you can hand one copy to me and one to your discussion group. You may use the summary to inform your seminar participation and then hand it in to me at the end of each seminar. I will mark the summaries as 3, 2.5, 2, 1, or 0. They are for your preparation for seminar, for discussion, to develop low risk writing habits, and they will help you prepare for and write the essay and take-home examination.

You must write summaries on weeks 2, 3, 5, 7, 10, 11. These weeks are indicated in red font to remind you. Failure to do so will result in replacing your next lowest summary mark with a zero, as well as a zero for this summary. The remaining (7th) summary may be written for any other week except week 12.

Late summaries will not be accepted. You may submit a summary twice during the term by email attachment by the beginning of the seminar. The remainder must be turned in during seminar.

3. 1 voluntary short essay 10 pages maximum double spaced (about 3000 words excluding endnotes) 25%

The essay must be written on Week 7 readings approached through the lens of either week 5 or week 6 readings (i.e. through Foucault, Mbembe, Fassin's reading of Agamben, or Arendt). Due Friday, November 3 before 4pm in the Law Dept. Drop Box.

Because the essay is voluntary, late essays NOT will be accepted unless you discuss the matter with me ahead of time and have a very good reason.

The short essays should evaluate some aspect of the literature for the relevant week(s). Your evaluation must be based on a clear and concise demonstration that you understand the literature but it must go beyond mere description or summary of the literature. The paper should be conceptual in nature, not merely empirical. The short essays will be marked on the basis of demonstrated understanding of the main themes in all of the literature for that essay, the thoughtfulness of the issue(s) chosen for consideration, and the evaluation and argument provided. Writing style, grammar, proper citation etc. will count in your mark.

Please provide a title page for your essay that includes your name, student number, date, course number. Please number your pages.

4. Take-home examination or research essay 30% or 55% (if you choose to opt out of the short essay). Due Monday, December 11 by 4pm.

The take-home examination will be distributed in the final seminar. Late exams will result in failure in the course in the absence of a medical excuse that I judge to be adequate. The take home examination will pose a question and ask you to integrate and assess the literature we have read and discussed this term. You will not be required to do outside research for the examination. But, you will be expected to have mastered a wide swath of the literature. The exam answer should be approximately 3000 words (about 8 double spaced pages) and no longer than 4000 words (about 10 pp double spaced, Times New Roman 12).

You may do a research essay instead of the take home examination. If you choose this option please clear the subject with me by November 8/9. The research essay must draw on an area of research related to the course. You will be required to do research beyond the readings in the course. The essay must be original to this course. The research essay should be about 4500 words (about 15 pp. double spaced) and no more than 6000 words (about 20 pages) not including endnotes. It is due Monday, December 11 by 4pm. Late essays will result in failure in the course in the absence of a medical or other excuse accepted by me.

GENERAL RULES:

Failure to complete any aspect of the requirements may result in failure in the course. Failure to submit the final exam or research essay on time will result in failure.

Plagiarism will not be tolerated. There is a zero tolerance policy on plagiarism which means that any act of plagiarism – whether intentional or inadvertent – will be taken directly to the Dean.

The OED (Oxford English Dictionary) defines plagiarism as follows: “The action or practice of taking someone else's work, idea, etc., and passing it off as one's own; literary theft.”<sup>1</sup> Plagiarism includes failing to use quotation marks around quoted material, even if one provides a citation, or providing an inadequate citation such as failing to provide a page number for quoted material.

In addition to Carleton’s site on plagiarism, a very useful source is:
<http://www.writing.utoronto.ca/advice/using-sources/how-not-to-plagiarize>

"Standing in a course is determined by the course instructor subject to the approval of the Faculty Dean. This means that grades submitted by the instructor may be subject to revision. No grades are final until they have been approved by the Dean."

SEMINAR SCHEDULE

(Schedule may be changed during the term. I will announce any major schedule or reading changes in the seminar that precedes the one with the change and will follow that up with an email on culearn.)

Week 1: Administrivia      5/6 September

Week 2: Introduction to the Issues      12/13 September

In week two's seminar we will canvass some forms of detention and resistance to it, ask what it is (if anything) that legitimates states' use of detention and its associated forms of domination (and, possibly, violence)? What are the similarities between refugee detention camps and prisons? What are some dissimilarities? What forms of resistance do detainees deploy? How legitimate do you think those forms are? How possibly effective? In general, what is your preliminary assessment of the condition of humanity today, taking these matters into account?

Please write a two page, single spaced (max) reflection on some of the issues raised in the readings, naming authors by name (e.g. "Kadletz argues..."). 3 pages absolute maximum. While all of the readings are required, you must reflect, at least, on Kadletz, Dunn, Haralambous, and Page in your reflection paper. Include one question for the seminar to discuss. Print the question twice with your name on it. You will hand one copy of the question to me when you enter seminar. You must also bring your written reflection to seminar for discussion and then hand it to me at the end of seminar.

Forms of protest, resistance, and violence

Week 9: “Nonviolent” protest, civil disobedience, and resistance 7/8 Nov.

Summary of the Habermas essays. You may consolidate them into one.

Habermas, Jürgen. “Right and Violence -- a German Trauma,” Cultural Critique 1, no. Autumn (1985): 125-139.

Habermas, Jürgen. “Civil Disobedience: Litmus Test for the Democratic Constitutional State,” Berkeley Journal of Sociology 30 (1985): 95-116.

Some questions to guide your reading of Habermas’s essays:

What is Habermas’s opinion of (variously formulated) “sheer legality”, “law is law”, or “authoritarian legalism”?

How does Habermas define/conceptualization civil disobedience?

What is Habermas’s justification of civil disobedience?

Consider hunger striking, lip sewing, or self-immolation by political prisoners and asylum-seekers. Might these actions fall within the definition of civil disobedience? What would be the justification of it on the basis of Habermas’s work?
