

POSITION: Instructor I
CLOSING DATE: June 1, 2014

---

The Department of Law and Legal Studies, Faculty of Public Affairs, Carleton University invites applications for a limited term (July 1, 2014 to June 30, 2016) Instructor I position.

Qualifications

Candidates should hold a doctoral degree, or the equivalent, in legal studies, law or a related discipline with a record of effective undergraduate teaching.

Description

The successful candidate will be expected to teach high-enrolment core courses in our undergraduate program such as: LAWS 1000, LAWS 2302, LAWS 2908, LAWS 2501, and LAWS 2202.

How to Apply

Applicants should send the following in four (4) separate files:

- a cover letter of application;
- a curriculum vitae;
- a teaching portfolio, including evidence of teaching performance and sample course outline;
- a statement of teaching philosophy/pedagogy;
- and arrange to have three referees forward on supporting letters electronically.

Submission

Please send your electronic application package, prior to the deadline, to:

Prof. George S. Rigakos
Chair
c/o Ryan MacKay
Department of Law and Legal Studies
Carleton University
ryan.mackay@carleton.ca

About the Academic Unit

The Department of Law and Legal Studies is the home of the oldest and largest undergraduate and graduate programs in Legal Studies in Canada. The Department emerged in 1967 as the first unit in Canada to study law with multidisciplinary academic concerns in mind. The Department offers a B.A. & B.A. (Honours) in Law to over 1000 students within the Faculty of Public Affairs and includes concentrations in Human Rights & Transnational Law, Business Law, and Law, Policy and Government among its undergraduate programs. The Department of Law and Legal Studies is committed to interdisciplinary legal inquiry and is composed of scholars engaged in interdisciplinary teaching and research from a range of disciplines including criminology, history, law, legal anthropology, political economy, political theory, mass communications and sociology. The Department currently offers a B.A. in Law and a M.A. and Ph.D in Legal Studies.

Carleton University is strongly committed to fostering diversity within its community as a source of excellence, cultural enrichment, and social strength. We welcome those who would contribute to the further diversification of our University including, but not limited to, women, visible minorities, Aboriginal peoples, persons with disabilities, and persons of any sexual orientation or gender identity. Those applicants that are selected for an interview will be requested to contact the Chair of the Search Committee as soon as possible to discuss any accommodation requirements. Arrangements will be made to accommodate requests in a timely manner.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply. Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority. All positions are subject to budgetary approval.