CALENDAR COURSE DESCRIPTION

Social transformation and criminal justice reform. Theoretical and practical reasons for the use of criminal law as an instrument of social control. Specific reform initiatives and processes. Alternate responses to social problems.

COURSE DESCRIPTION

There are a number of mechanisms through which changes to criminal justice policies and the criminal law occur. Legislators respond to criminal justice issues by enacting new law or amending existing law. Courts respond to new challenges by reinterpreting legal rules, implementing changes that seem to be mandated by the Charter, and sometimes finding ways of resisting law reform measures taken by legislators. In addition, reform may occur through changes in discretionary practices of criminal justice officials and policies at a more micro level. Less clear are the broader social forces that motivate reform. In this course we will consider the political, economic, and cultural conditions that problematize aspects of criminal justice, the mechanisms through which courts, legislatures and other actors in the criminal justice system interpret and respond to pressures for change, and examine some contemporary examples of criminal justice reform.

REQUIRED TEXTS

All the course readings can be accessed electronically through the MacOdrum Library collection of journals and e-books, on line, or on CuLearn.

EVALUATION Syllabus.doc
Grading for the course will be based on the following:

Two take home assignments: 20% each
Research paper: 30%
Group presentation: 20%
Class participation: 10%

The take home assignments will be based on the material covered in class. The first will be posted on cuLearn on January 29th and due in class on February 12. The second will be posted on March 4 and due in class on March 18.

The research paper can be on any topic related to criminal justice reform, and should be 10 to 12 pages in length, double-spaced. It will be due on April 7. Students should provide me with a brief outline of their research project well before the due date to ensure that it meets the course requirements.

Students will be asked to sign up for one of six groups that will give presentations to the class on various criminal justice reform topics over the last three weeks of the course. Students from two groups not presenting on a particular day will be asked to provide a brief written comment on each presentation. I will summarize the comments and forwarded them to the presenters.

The class participation grade is based on a combination of attendance, frequency of students’ participation in class discussions and the degree to which students’ comments and questions show thoughtfulness and preparation. Students who fail to submit comments on the class presentations will lose participation marks.

Extensions on assignments will only be granted in extenuating circumstances, such as a verifiable medical condition or family emergency. Students requesting extensions will be required to provide appropriate documentation.

Standing in a course is determined by the course instructor subject to the approval of the Department and of the Faculty Dean. This means that grades submitted by the instructor may be subject to revision. No grades are final until they have been approved by the Department and the Dean.

Plagiarism

Plagiarism is presenting, whether intentional or not, the ideas, expression of ideas or work of others as one's own. Plagiarism includes reproducing or paraphrasing portions of someone else's published or unpublished material, regardless of the source, and presenting these as one's own without proper citation or reference to the original source. Examples of sources from which the ideas, expressions of ideas or works of others may be drawn from include but are not limited to: books, articles, papers, literary compositions and phrases, performance compositions, chemical compounds, art works, laboratory reports, research results, calculations and the results of calculations, diagrams, constructions, computer reports, computer code/software, and material on the Internet. Plagiarism is a serious offence. More information on the University’s Academic Integrity Policy can be found at: http://carleton.ca/studentaffairs/academic-integrity/

Survivors of Sexual Violence

As a community, Carleton University is committed to maintaining a positive learning, working and living environment where sexual violence will not be tolerated, and survivors are supported through academic accommodations as per Carleton's Sexual Violence Policy. For more information about the services available at the university and to obtain information about sexual violence and/or support, visit: carleton.ca/sexual-violence-support

Accommodation for Student Activities

Carleton University recognizes the substantial benefits, both to the individual student and for the university, that result from a student participating in activities beyond the classroom experience. Reasonable accommodation must be provided to students who compete or perform at the national or international level. Please contact your instructor with any requests for academic accommodation during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist. https://carleton.ca/senate/wp-content/uploads/Accommodation-for-Student-Activities-1.pdf
