RAVENS FOR INNOCENCE & THE CARLETON LAW SOCIETY PRESENT

An Evening with
Jamie Nelson

EXONEREE • GUEST SPEAKER

In 1996, Jamie Nelson was convicted of a sexual assault he did not commit, based on the word of a single accuser whose credibility later fell apart. He spent nearly three years in prison, denied parole for refusing to admit to a crime he didn't commit, until the Ontario Court of Appeal acquitted him in 2001.

Join us as Jamie shares his story, the fight to clear his name, and life after exoneration, followed by a live Q&A. Everyone is welcome.
