A Taste of the Humanities, team-taught by faculty from Carleton’s Bachelor of Humanities program.

Description:
The Bachelor of Humanities is a four-year interdisciplinary tour of great ideas that shaped our world. Drawing from the expertise of faculty in Religion, Philosophy, Art History, Music, Political Science, Anthropology, English, and other Carleton programs, students in the B. Hums. explore the texts, images, sounds, emotions, and intellectual leaps that make up the historical legacy of human attempts to capture truth and meaning. Our students become culturally literate and well-educated global citizens, able to read, write, analyse and discuss ideas at a high level. Team-taught by faculty from the Humanities program, this LIR course offers a taste of a Humanities degree for the intellectually curious.
