

CALL FOR ABSTRACTS

Ottawa-Carleton Student Northern Research Symposium

Photo by Karen Neil

The OCSNRS is an annual, one-day conference which brings together students from the University of Ottawa and Carleton University who are involved in northern research. It provides an opportunity for students to present their research, network, and to widen their knowledge of the north. Students from any discipline are welcome, given their research involves the geographic north. Presentations may range from project proposals to complete research projects.

Abstracts must include:

1. The names of all authors with the presenting author and institutional affiliation indicated;
2. The student's department, program type (BA, BSc, MA, MSc, PhD, etc.) and supervisor's name;
3. The presentation title;
4. Preference for an oral or a poster presentation; and
5. An abstract of 250 words maximum, which should include a brief introduction to your topic, research objectives, approach/methods, and key findings.

Submission deadline: January 29, 2018

Submit abstracts to: OCSNRS2018@gmail.com

Language: English or French

If you are a graduate or undergraduate student whose research involves the north, you are eligible to apply!

uOttawa

OCSNRS 2018 will take place at the University of Ottawa on February 15th

Carleton
UNIVERSITY