Political Economy Graduate Conference
Friday March 2, 2018, 9:00 – 5:00 p.m.
Room 2017 Dunton Tower, Carleton University

LEARNING TO REMEMBER, LEARNING TO FORGET
Rethinking Silence in Space, Place and Memory

9:00 am – Light Breakfast

9:15 am – IPE Director’s Remarks from Professor Cristina Rojas

9:30 am – Panel 1: Conversations on work and well-being

- Discussant: Chris Fairweather, Master’s Student, Political Economy
- Carter Vance, Master’s Student, Political Economy: “Problems of Jurisdiction and Political Mobilization in Relation to Basic Income”
- Meg Lonergan, PhD Student, Law & Legal Studies, Specialization in Political Economy: “I can’t get no satisfaction: Affect, Good Objects & Commodity Fetishism”

10:40 am: Coffee Break

10:55 am- Panel 2: Re-thinking Silences in Geography and Environment

- Discussant: Katalin Koller, PhD Candidate, Geography & Environmental Studies, Collaborative PhD in Political Economy
- Breanna Denton, Master’s Student, Public Policy and Administration: “Remembering the Connection: an Exploration of The Relationship Between Urban Renewal and Public Housing Through The Razing of Africville and Development of Uniacke Square”
- William Felepchuck, PhD Student, School of Indigenous and Canadian Studies: “Racial Necrogeographies and Unsettling Silences: The Life and Death of 19th Century Burial Places in Ontario and Virginia”
- Meghan Graham, Master’s Student, Political Economy: “Salmon Kin: Disrupting Industrial Fish Farming and Re-Establishing Reciprocity in Human-Salmon Relations”

12:05- Lunch

1:00 Keynote Speaker: Megan Rivers-Moore, “Sex and The Single Guy: Conceptualizing (Hetero)Sexual Migration.”

1:30- Panel 3: Uncovering Marginalized Voices

- Discussant: Maggie FitzGerald Murphy, PhD Candidate, Political Science, Collaborative PhD in Political Economy
• Sarah Wade - West, Master’s Student, Political Economy: “Theorizing “the leak” In Security Studies: The ‘network of leaking’”
• Jesse Whattam, Master’s Student, Political Economy: “Out of Sight, Out of Mind: Immigration Detention in Canada”
• Caglar Dolek, PhD Candidate, Sociology, Collaborative Specialization in Political Economy: “Historical imagination through Literary Critique: Subversive Stories From Early Republican Turkey”
• Lauren Montgomery, PhD Candidate, Sociology, Specialization in Political Economy: “The Economics of Violence: Understanding the Role of Sexual Assault Survivors & Activists in Disrupting the Corporatization of Universities.”

Coffee Break: 3:00 pm

3:15- Panel 4: Confronting Narratives and Knowledges

• Discussant: Michael Chiarello, PhD Candidate, History
• Nick Favero, Master’s Student, Political Economy: “On the Limits of Identity”
• Emily Putnam, PhD Student, ICSLAC: Emma Nishimura: Reconstructing Moments of Silence in a “Geography of Space”
• Kelsey Perrault, PhD Student, ICSLAC: “Remembrance and Difficult Knowledge: Unsettling Comforting Narratives at the Canadian Museum for Human Rights”
• Andrew Costa, PhD Student, Law & Legal Studies: “Remembering and Forgetting at Canada 150: The Legal Structuring of Memoryscapes”

4:45 Closing Remarks

6:00 pm Post Conference Social- Arrow and Loon 99 Fifth Ave