PHIL 4100 Winter 2019: Exploitation
Wednesdays 2:30-5:30, Paterson 3A36
Professor Vida Panitch  vida.panitch@carleton.ca
Office Hours: Paterson 3A55 by appointment

Course Description:

What does it mean to exploit an individual, a situation, or an existing injustice? Typically, this concept is cashed out in terms of unfair advantage taking. But when should we say that someone has played for advantage, and is this always wrongful? Can exploitation be mutually advantageous? Is exploitation a transactional concept, a feature of individual contracts that ought to be regulated or prevented, or a systemic concept, and thus an inevitable feature of a particular social or economic system? Does exploitation involve something different in personal relationships than in market relationships? What should we do about it in each particular context? In this course, we will examine these and associated questions through the work of various contemporary moral and political philosophers.

Course Assignments:

- Argument Reconstructions: 2 x 15% = 30% Students will prepare argument reconstructions 2 times throughout the term. Students must sign up on CU Learn for the papers they will reconstruct no later than January 12th. An argument reconstruction should be no more than 2 pages and identify the central premises of the article, and supporting argumentation, and present them in a logical progression, arriving at the article’s main claim(s) or conclusion. Students should email their reconstruction to the instructor before class so that copies can be made to distribute in class. Students will be asked to lead the class through their argument reconstruction.

- Discussion Questions: 10 x 1.5% = 15% Students will submit by email to the instructor a discussion question no later than 4 hours prior to each seminar, except on Jan 9 and Mar 27. Students cannot raise a discussion question with respect to the paper they have chosen to reconstruct for a particular week’s class. Questions should be approximately one paragraph long and address a substantive claim advanced by a paper’s author. Students may be asked to raise their discussion question in class, once the relevant paper has been reconstructed.

- Participation: 10 % Students are expected to come to class, and to come prepared to discuss the readings. This is a seminar, not a lecture course.

- Take Home Exam: 45 % This is effectively your term paper. A topic will be chosen by the student and approved by the instructor. Individual meetings will be held to discuss topics, and an outline for the paper. Length: 12-15 pages double spaced. Due on April 27.

Assignments:

Unless specifically told otherwise by their instructors, students:

- Must not use a plastic or cardboard cover or paper clips.
- Must staple the paper (there is a stapler on the essay box).
- Must include the following on the first page: student name and number; course name and number; instructor’s name.
- No assignments will be accepted after the last day for handing in term work – see dates below.
- Assignments handed in through the essay box (just inside the glass doors, Paterson Hall, Floor 3A) must be dropped into the box by 4:15 on a regular business day in order to be date-stamped with that day’s date. Assignments handed in after 4:15 or on a non-business day will be stamped as having been handed in on the next business day.
- Students are required to keep copies of their assignments. If your paper is lost at any point, you will be considered not to have submitted it if you cannot produce a copy immediately on request.

Evaluation:

Standing in a course is determined by the course instructor subject to the approval of the Faculty Dean. This means that grades submitted by the instructor may be subject to revision. No grades are final until they have been approved by the Dean.

Deferrals for Final Exams:

If you miss a final examination (formally scheduled or take-home) because of circumstances beyond your control, you may apply for a deferral. You must apply within 3 working days after the scheduled date of your formally scheduled exam or within 3 working days after the due date of a take-home exam. Visit the Registrar’s Office for more information:
