II. Description

Contemporary philosophical libertarianism is a broad church. What unites all libertarians is the belief that freedom is the primary political value. However, different forms of philosophical libertarianism have a very different understanding of the implications of this view. In this seminar, we will look at some of the main versions of libertarianism in contemporary political philosophy and focus in particular on the distinction between right-libertarians (who, roughly, believe that the market should be the main mechanism of social cooperation and the state should play, at most, a minimal role) and left-libertarians (who, typically, believe that genuine freedom can only be guaranteed by an extensive redistribution of resources).

III. Prerequisites

Registration in a Philosophy Master's Program.

IV. Readings

All readings for the seminar are available through cuLearn. All readings for the seminar are available through cuLearn. Please check the Seminar Schedule on cuLearn for a detailed reading schedule.

V. Grading

1. Take-Home Exam (Essay) (30% of your final grade; due on Apr 27);
2. Essay Proposal (10% of your final grade; due on Apr 14);
3. Discussion Questions (20% of your final grade).
4. Attendance and Participation (40%)

All final grades are subject to the approval of the Dean of the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences.

VI. Course Organization and Course Policies

Overview. This course will be run like a seminar. In a seminar, the role of the instructor is not to lecture the class but to lead and facilitate the discussion among the students. Seminars encourage students to adopt a more active approach to learning, to engage more directly with the issues discussed, and to take responsibility for their own learning. The success of a seminar-style course depends on everyone doing their part.

Attendance and Participation. Attendance and participation are crucial to the success of a seminar. You are strongly encouraged to contribute to the class discussion. For every session you attend, you will receive a participation grade based on the quantity and the quality of your contributions to the class discussion (see table below). If your only contribution to the class discussion is asking your discussion question and giving your tentative answer, then your participation level is considered ‘Minimal’. In order to receive a Satisfactory grade or above, you have to contribute to the class discussion more than just to ask your discussion question and give your tentative answer. While the most important way for you to contribute to the discussion is by speaking in class, contributions you make to the discussion forums on cuLearn will also count towards your participation grade.

Please note that, unless exceptional circumstances (e.g. illness) prevent you from attending, failure to attend a session will result in an ‘Absent’ for that session, which is equivalent to 0%.

Absent (Unexcused)	0
Present - Minimal Participation	65
Present - Satisfactory Participation	75
Present - Good Participation	85
Present - Excellent Participation	100

Essay Proposal. The essay proposal presents an outline of the Essay you plan to write for your Take-Home Exam. Minimally, it should include the thesis of your Essay and your argument in support of that thesis. The word limit for the Paper Proposal is 1,000 words. The Essay Proposal is to be submitted through cuLearn.

Please note that Failing to submit your Paper Proposal will result in a 0% on that component of your final grade. Late Paper Proposals will receive a 5-point penalty for every day they are late.

Take-Home Exam (Essay). Your Take-Home Exam will consist of an essay of up to 5,000 words (but shorter essays are welcome). The Essay should develop the ideas on your Essay Proposal in light of the feedback I have given you.

Failing to submit your Final Paper will result in a 0% on that component of your final grade. Late Final Papers will receive a 5-point penalty for every day they are late.

Discussion Questions. You are expected to submit one Discussion Question for every reading (i.e., article or chapter). Discussion Questions can be either an interpretive question (e.g. ‘What does the author mean in this passage?’) or an evaluative question (e.g. ‘Do you think that the argument that the author gives in this passage works?’). Discussion Questions need to be posted on the appropriate forum on cuLearn by the start of the seminar. As a rule, specific Discussion Questions (i.e. questions that refer to a specific passage) are preferable to general Discussion Questions. However, general Discussion Questions are also acceptable. If you do refer to a specific passage, please give a clear reference and please provide a full quotation of the passage in your cuLearn post. During the meeting, students will take turns asking their Discussion Questions and giving tentative answers to their own questions (e.g. ‘I don’t think that the argument works because... ’). The tentative answers do not have to be submitted with the Discussion Questions but count as part of your participation (see below). If, for whatever reason, you are unable to attend either of the meetings of the week, you should still submit your Discussion Questions if you can.

Please note that, unless exceptional circumstances (e.g., illness or family emergency) prevent you from submitting a Discussion Question, failing to submit a Discussion Question on time will result in an 'Incomplete', which is equivalent to a 0%.

If exceptional circumstances (e.g., illness or family emergency) prevent you from submitting a Discussion Question, please notify me by email as soon as possible.

Academic Integrity. You are responsible for ensuring that you understand the nature of academic offences (such as plagiarism and unauthorized collaboration), as defined in the Undergraduate Calendar, and to avoid both committing them and aiding or abetting academic offences perpetrated by other students. Please be aware that I am bound to report any suspected academic offence directly to the Office of the Dean.

Copyright. Carleton University is committed to compliance in all copyright matters. Noncompliance is a violation of the Canadian Copyright Act. In addition to any actions that might be taken by any copyright owner or its licensing agent, the University will take steps against any breach of this policy. In Canada, copyright for a work is given automatically to the creator of the work. The work does not need to be marked or declared as copyrighted in order to be copyrighted. The majority of works in Canada are copyrighted. It is important for students to understand and respect copyright. Copyright determines your usage rights for a particular work, which includes textbooks, web pages, videos and images, both electronic and hard copy. Students may not photocopy entire or major portions of books or other works, even if it is only for their personal use. Fair dealing makes some allowances for copying small portions of works. See Carleton's Fair Dealing Policy for more information. If journal articles or portions of works are available through the library, either as hard copies or electronically, students may make a single copy for their personal use. Students may not distribute copies of works that are under copyright. For more information, please see the Carleton's Fair Dealing Policy and the library's copyright website: www.library.carleton.ca/copyright.

Department of Philosophy and Carleton University Policies (Fall/Winter 2020-21)

Assignments:

Please follow your professor's instructions on how assignments will be handled electronically. There will be NO hard copies placed in the essay box this coming year.

Evaluation:

Standing in a course is determined by the course instructor subject to the approval of the Faculty Dean. This means that grades submitted by the instructor may be subject to revision. No grades are final until they have been approved by the Dean.

Deferrals for Term Work:

If students are unable to complete term work because of illness or other circumstances beyond their control, they should contact their course instructor no later than three working days of the due date. Normally, any deferred term work will be completed by the last day of the term. Term work cannot be deferred by the Registrar.

Deferrals for Final Exams:

Students are expected to be available for the duration of a course including the examination period. Occasionally, students encounter circumstances beyond their control where they may not be able to write a final examination or submit a take-home examination. Examples of this would be a serious illness or the death of a family member. If you miss a final examination and/or fail to submit a take-home examination by the due date, you may apply for a deferral no later than three working days after the original due date (as per the University Regulations in Section 4.3 of the Undergraduate Calendar). Visit the Registrar's Office for further information.

Plagiarism:

It is the responsibility of each student to understand the meaning of 'plagiarism' as defined in the Undergraduate or Graduate Calendars, and to avoid both committing plagiarism and aiding or abetting plagiarism by other students. (Section 10.1 of the Undergraduate Calendar Academic Regulations)

Academic Accommodation:

You may need special arrangements to meet your academic obligations during the term:

- Pregnancy or religious obligation: write to your professor with any requests for academic accommodation during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist. For more details visit the EDC website.
- Academic accommodations for students with disabilities: The Paul Menton Centre for Students with Disabilities (PMC) provides services to students with Learning Disabilities (LD), psychiatric/mental health disabilities, Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD), Autism Spectrum Disorders (ASD), chronic medical conditions, and impairments in mobility, hearing, and vision. If you have a disability requiring academic accommodations in this course, please contact PMC at 613-520-6608 or pmc@carleton.ca for a formal evaluation. If you are already registered with the PMC, contact your PMC coordinator to send your Letter of Accommodation at the beginning of the term, and no later than two weeks before the first in-class test or exam requiring accommodation. After requesting accommodation from PMC, meet with your professor to ensure accommodation arrangements are made.
- Survivors of Sexual Violence: As a community, Carleton University is committed to maintaining a positive learning, working and living environment where sexual violence will not be tolerated, and where survivors are supported through academic accommodations as per Carleton's Sexual Violence Policy.
- Accommodation for Student Activities: Carleton University recognizes the substantial benefits, both to the individual student and for the university, that result from a student participating in activities beyond the classroom experience. Reasonable accommodation must be provided to students who compete or perform at the national or international level. Please contact your instructor with any requests for academic accommodation during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist.
