• Course description
This course examines the intersection of social forces, economic factors and institutional structures in Canadian economic development and transformation. It explores various approaches to the study of Canadian Political Economy including the staples theory, neo-institutionalism, Marxist, feminist and anti-racist approaches. Throughout the course, the unequal distribution of power and wealth by region, class, gender and ethnicity will be examined.

• WebCT [http://webct.carleton.ca]
Course materials, including the course outline, assignments and links to readings, will be posted on WebCT. Please ensure that you have access to WebCT and consult it regularly.

• Required Textbook and Readings

Other required readings are available on-line, on reserve in the library or in the Political Science Resource Room, C666 Loeb. The Resource Room is open from 8:30 a.m. – 4:15 p.m., Monday to Friday.

• Evaluation
Seminar Participation 20%
Student Presentations (and 2-3 pg. outline) 15%
3 Short Reaction Papers (2-3 pages each) 3 x 5% = 15% (first paper due by Feb. 13 at latest)
Research Proposal 10% (due Feb. 27)
Research Paper (15-20 pages) 40% (due April 9)

• Seminar Participation:
This is not a lecture-based course. All students are expected to attend class having read the required materials for that session and prepared to participate in class discussions on the assigned topic. The grade for seminar participation will be based on attendance at seminar sessions and, more importantly, the quality and extent of participation in seminar sessions.

• Student Presentation:
Presentations will take place from January 30 to March 26. Individual student presentations should be roughly 15 minutes each. The presentation should critically examine and explore an aspect of the seminar topic. In doing so, it is helpful to draw upon other issues, examples and readings. Simply summarizing the readings is not acceptable. Students will also hand in a 2-3 page outline of their presentation at the start of class on the day of their presentation. Further details and guidance will be provided in class and on WebCT.

- Reaction Papers:
  Reaction papers (2-3 pages long) are completed by students in reaction to the course readings. These papers must be handed in at the start of the class in which those readings are discussed. Further details and guidance will be provided in class and on WebCT.

  The first reaction paper must be completed for one of the classes before reading week, with the exception of the first week (January 9). The second and third reaction papers can be completed for any class with the exception of the last week (April 2). However, reaction papers cannot be handed in during the week of your presentation.

- Research Proposals:
  Research paper topics and expectations will be distributed in class and on WebCT.

  Research proposals are due by 4:00 pm on February 27. Late papers are subject to a one letter grade deduction per day, including Saturdays and Sundays. For example, an A- paper received one day late would be reduced to a B+.

  Research proposals should be submitted either in-class or during my office hours. Do not slide papers under my door. Proposals will not be accepted in electronic form. The Political Science drop box is intended to collect late assignments only if a student has extenuating circumstances and is unable to submit the paper directly to me in class or during my office hours. The drop box is emptied every weekday at 4 pm and all items collected at that time are stamped with that day’s date.

  The research proposal is intended to assist students in developing and framing their research topic (related to the course themes and material) through some preliminary research. Completing a proposal ensures that students are provided with some early feedback on their topic and preliminary work.

- Research Proposal and Research Essay:
  Pending the approval of your research proposal, you will develop that topic in the subsequent research essay.

  Research papers must be handed in by 4:00 p.m. on April 9. This is the last day to submit written work for the winter term. Late papers will not be accepted. Papers may be handed in earlier (for example during class on April 2).

Academic Accommodations

For Students with Disabilities: Students with disabilities requiring academic accommodations in this course are encouraged to contact the Paul Menton Centre (PMC) for Students with Disabilities (500 University Centre) to complete the necessary forms. After registering with the PMC, make an appointment to meet with the instructor in order to discuss your needs at least two weeks before the first in-class test or CUTV midterm exam. This will allow for sufficient time to process your request. Please note the following deadlines for submitting completed forms to the PMC for formally scheduled exam accommodations: March 14th, 2008 for April examinations.

For Religious Observance: Students requesting accommodation for religious observances should apply in writing to their instructor for alternate dates and/or means of satisfying academic requirements. Such requests should be made during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist, but no later than two weeks before the compulsory academic event. Accommodation is to be worked out directly and on an individual basis between the student and the instructor(s) involved. Instructors will make accommodations in a way that avoids academic disadvantage to the student. Instructors and students may contact an Equity Services Advisor for assistance (www.carleton.ca/equity).

For Pregnancy: Pregnant students requiring academic accommodations are encouraged to contact an Equity Advisor in Equity Services to complete a letter of accommodation. Then, make an appointment to discuss your needs with the instructor at least two weeks prior to the first academic event in which it is anticipated the accommodation will be required.

Plagiarism: The Undergraduate Calendar defines plagiarism as: "to use and pass off as one's own idea or product, work of another without expressly giving credit to another.” The Graduate Calendar states that plagiarism has occurred when a student either: (a) directly copies another's work without acknowledgment; or (b) closely paraphrases the equivalent of a short paragraph or more without acknowledgment; or (c) borrows, without acknowledgment, any ideas in a clear and recognizable form in such a way as to present them as the student's own thought, where such ideas, if they were the student's own would contribute to the merit of his or her own work. Instructors who suspect plagiarism are required to submit the paper and supporting documentation to the Departmental Chair who will refer the case to the Dean. It is not permitted to hand in the same assignment to two or more courses. The Department's Style Guide is available at: http://www.carleton.ca/polisci/undergrad/Essay%20Style%20Guide.html

Oral Examination: At the discretion of the instructor, students may be required to pass a brief oral examination on research papers and essays.

Submission and Return of Term Work: Papers must be handed directly to the instructor and will not be date-stamped in the departmental office. Late assignments may be submitted to the drop box in the corridor outside B640 Loeb. Assignments will be retrieved every business day at 4 p.m., stamped with that day's date, and then distributed to the instructor. For essays not returned in class please attach a stamped, self-addressed envelope if you wish to have your assignment returned by mail. Please note that assignments sent via fax or email will not be accepted. Final exams are intended solely for the purpose of evaluation and will not be returned.
Approval of final grades: Standing in a course is determined by the course instructor subject to the approval of the Faculty Dean. This means that grades submitted by an instructor may be subject to revision. No grades are final until they have been approved by the Dean.

Course Requirements: Students must fulfill all course requirements in order to achieve a passing grade. Failure to hand in any assignment will result in a grade of F. Failure to write the final exam will result in a grade of ABS. FND (Failure No Deferred) is assigned when a student's performance is so poor during the term that they cannot pass the course even with 100% on the final examination. In such cases, instructors may use this notation on the Final Grade Report to indicate that a student has already failed the course due to inadequate term work and should not be permitted access to a deferral of the examination. Deferred final exams are available ONLY if the student is in good standing in the course.

Connect Email Accounts: The Department of Political Science strongly encourages students to sign up for a campus email account. Important course and University information will be distributed via the Connect email system. See http://connect.carleton.ca for instructions on how to set up your account.
