Instructor: Dr. Eric Van Rythoven

Office Hours: By Zoom appointment on Tuesdays between 10:00am – 12:00pm

Email: ericvanrythoven@cmail.carleton.ca

Contact Policy: Email is the best way to contact me. I will normally reply within 24-48 hours, weekends excluded. Please include the course code in the subject line of the email. For longer questions I recommend scheduling a Zoom appointment. All email must be through an official Carleton University email account.

1. Course Overview

When should Canada intervene militarily in other countries? Should the focus of Canada's international engagement be multilateral institutions or bilateral agreements? How should Canada manage its relationship with the United States? What does the future of liberal international order hold for Canadian foreign policy objectives? And just who is responsible for making Canadian foreign policy anyways?

Each of these questions grows in significance as globalization deepens the connections between domestic Canadian politics and the international environment. To understand these questions this course provides students with a broad introduction to the study of Canadian foreign policy. Focusing primarily on the post-Cold War and post-9/11 periods, the course examines key themes and processes including domestic and international sources of foreign policy, security, Canada-US relations, as well as Canada-China relations.

2. Aims and Objectives

This course aims to deepen students' general knowledge of Canadian foreign policy and to provide them with the conceptual tools to critically assess contemporary developments in Canada's international affairs. The course begins with an overview of classic theories of Canadian foreign policy including Liberal Internationalism, Complex Neorealism, Dependency Theories, as well as more recent approaches. The second part of the course examines the main sources of Canadian foreign policy including domestic actors, such as the role of Prime Ministers and Parliament, and external sources, such as American unipolarity and international institutions. The final part of the course engages with key issues and themes including defence and security, gender, Indigenous diplomacy, as well as Canada-China relations.

By the end of the course students will be able to:

- demonstrate factual knowledge about the historical and contemporary practice of Canadian foreign policy;
- explain central concepts and theories in the study of foreign policy;
- identify key sources of foreign policy behaviour; and
- critically analyze and assess contemporary developments in Canada's international affairs.

3. Course Format

This course will be held in-person.

4. Required Texts

Duane Bratt & Christopher J. Kukucha eds., Readings in Canadian Foreign Policy: Classic Debates & New Ideas, 3rd ed. Oxford: Oxford University Press, 2015.

The textbook can be purchased via the Carleton University bookstore or the online retailer of your choice. All other required readings will be posted on Brightspace.

5. Statement on Generative AI

The use of generative AI for any assignment for this course—with the exception of Grammarly—is expressly forbidden and will be treated as an academic integrity issue.

I also highly recommend students do not use generative AI to create class notes, study guides, practice questions, summarize readings, outline assignments, or for any other academic exercise in this course. I recommend this for two reasons. First, large language models like ChatGPT are notoriously inaccurate. Some people call these errors 'hallucinations' but this reflects a misunderstanding of how these models work. ChatGPT is not designed to tell you what is accurate. It can only tell you what is the statistically likely next word in a string of text based on the data it was trained on.

Second, you are taking this course to develop your own skills and knowledge. Having ChatGPT read an article for you is not going to make you a better reader, expand your vocabulary, or make you more informed about the world. You would not pay to go to the gym and then have someone else exercise for you. You should not pay to take a class and then have an AI do assignments for you.

I reserve the right to ask students to submit evidence of their own research and/or call-in students for an oral defense of any submitted assignment to test their familiarity with the arguments and sources that they have presented.

6. Evaluation at a Glance

Item	Value	Timeline
Group Presentation	20%	According to the presentation schedule
Social Reading	20%	Graded at random four times during the semester
Midterm Exam	25%	October 18 th
Research Essay	35%	December 6 th 11:59pm

7. Evaluation in Detail

Group Presentation (20%)

In small groups students will be responsible for delivering a class presentation based on an assigned academic article. Presentation articles can be found in the course schedule below. The presentation will be 20 minutes long and consist of:

1. a brief analytical summary of the article including its central argument
2. an assessment of the article's strengths and weaknesses
3. its significance to the broader study of Canadian foreign policy
4. at least two discussion questions for the class.

At the conclusion of the presentation the group will lead a brief class discussion of the article for 10 minutes. This means the entire presentation will last 30 minutes. The presentation must also include power point slides and be accompanied by a 1-page single-spaced summary of the key points of the presentation.

The presentation will be evaluated based on content, collaboration, organization, and presentation style, as well as the quality of their power point and summary. Students who do not contribute equitably to the group project will receive a reduced grade.

Sign up for presentations begins on September 6th, and presentations will begin on September 20th. Sign up is organized on a first-come-first-serve basis. Students who do not sign up for presentation by September 8th will be automatically assigned a group. Beyond their selected presentation article, students are not required to read any of the other presentation articles, but they are recommended.

Social Reading (20%)

Starting on September 13th, students will cover a portion of each class reading through the social annotation platform Perusall. In an assigned group students will asynchronously read, highlight, raise questions, post comments, and interact with each other in a conversation anchored to a class reading. Other students in your group, as well as the Instructor, will be able to see your annotations and respond directly to them. You can use annotations to:

- Highlight key definitions, concepts, and arguments

- Flag passages you find interesting or relevant to international politics or contemporary events more broadly
- Raise questions over material you do not understand
- Insert criticism of an author's argument (e.g. evidence, logic, conclusiveness)
- Connect a reading to other texts and material we have covered in class
- Respond to other students' comments (e.g. signaling points of agreement or disagreement)

The goal of social reading is to approach challenging academic texts in a cooperative manner, rather than have students read them in isolation. Students will be graded on their contribution to social reading based on the rubric posted on Brightspace. Grading will occur at four random times during the semester. You can see the social reading schedule, grading rubric, and instructions for logging into Perusall on the Brightspace course page. We will cover sign-up for Perusall in our first class.

Due dates: Your annotations to a reading must be completed before we discuss that reading in class.

Midterm Exam (25%)

The midterm exam will be written in-class using Brightspace and covers readings and lectures from classes 1 - 6. The exam will be divided between multiple choice, true or false, and short answer questions. Students will have two hours to write the exam. The midterm exam will be held on October 18th.

While students may use their class notes during the exam, the use of any other sources or online services is prohibited.

Research Essay (35%)

Students will write a research paper which explains a select issue in Canadian foreign policy. The focus of the essay will be twofold: (1) which of the theories discussed in class best explains this foreign policy, and (2) what are the key sources driving this foreign policy behaviour. The essay should incorporate course material as well as independent research. Students may choose from the following topics:

- Canada's response to Russia's invasion of Ukraine
- Canada's diplomatic dispute with China
- Canada's Feminist foreign policy
- Canada's response to the global refugee crisis
- UN Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples

This is an argumentative paper. It requires you to take a position on which theory best explains your issue, and which sources of foreign policy are the most significant. Your paper must do more than just describe what is occurring. A good paper will (a) briefly summarize the issue; (b) identify the theory which best explains the issue; (c) identify the key sources driving this behaviour. Your grade will reflect how well you satisfy these three criteria. The research paper should be 2500 - 3000 words in length (footnotes, bibliography and cover page do not count towards this total). Papers are due on December 6th at 11:59pm and must be submitted via Brightspace.

Late Paper Policy: Papers are deducted 3% for each day they are late (e.g. an 80% grade becomes 77% for 1 day late).

Requests for Academic Accommodation

Deferred final exams, which must be applied for at the RO, are available ONLY if the student is in good standing in the course. The course outline must stipulate any minimum standards for good standing that a student must meet to be entitled to write a deferred final exam.

You may need special arrangements to meet your academic obligations during the term. For an accommodation request, the processes are as follows:

Academic consideration for medical or other extenuating circumstances: Please contact your instructor if you are experiencing circumstances that (a) are beyond your control, (b) have a significant impact your capacity to meet your academic obligations, and (c) could not have reasonably been prevented. Decisions on academic consideration are in your instructor's discretion; they will be guided by the course learning outcomes and the principle of good faith. Please see here for more details. For considerations relating to course work, your instructor may request that you complete the Self-Declaration form. To apply for a deferral of your final exam, you must submit the Self-Declaration form to the Registrar's Office no later than three days after the scheduled examination or take-home due date.

Pregnancy accommodation: Please contact your instructor with any requests for academic accommodation during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist. For accommodation regarding a formally-scheduled final exam, you must complete the Pregnancy Accommodation Form (click here).

Religious accommodation: Please contact your instructor with any requests for academic accommodation during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist. For more details click here.

Accommodations for students with disabilities: If you have a documented disability requiring academic accommodations in this course, please contact the Paul Menton Centre for Students with Disabilities (PMC) at 613-520-6608 or pmc@carleton.ca for a formal evaluation, or contact your PMC coordinator to send your instructor your Letter of Accommodation at the beginning of the term. You must also contact the PMC no later than two weeks before the first in-class scheduled test or exam requiring accommodation (if applicable). After requesting accommodation from PMC, reach out to your instructor as soon as possible to ensure accommodation arrangements are made. For more details, click here.

Accommodation for student activities: Carleton University recognizes the substantial benefits, both to the individual student and to the university, that result from a student participating in activities beyond the classroom. Reasonable accommodation will be provided to students who engage in student activities at the national or international level. Please contact your instructor with any requests for academic accommodation during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist. For more information, please click here.

Carleton is committed to providing academic accessibility for all individuals. You may need special arrangements to meet your academic obligations during the term. The accommodation request processes, including information about the Academic Consideration Policy for Students in Medical and Other Extenuating Circumstances, are outlined on the Academic Accommodations website (students.carleton.ca/course-outline).

Sexual Violence Policy

As a community, Carleton University is committed to maintaining a positive learning, working and living environment where sexual violence will not be tolerated. Survivors are supported through academic accommodations as per Carleton's Sexual Violence Policy. For more information about the services available at the university and to obtain information about sexual violence and/or support, visit: carleton.ca/sexual-violence-support.

Academic Integrity

Academic integrity is an essential element of a productive and successful career as a student. Carleton's Academic Integrity Policy addresses academic integrity violations, including plagiarism, unauthorized collaboration, misrepresentation, impersonation, withholding of records, obstruction/interference, disruption of instruction or examinations, improper access to and/or dissemination of information, or violation of test and examination rules. Students are required to familiarize themselves with the university's academic integrity rules.

Plagiarism

The Academic Integrity Policy defines plagiarism as “presenting, whether intentional or not, the ideas, expression of ideas or work of others as one’s own.” This includes reproducing or paraphrasing portions of someone else’s published or unpublished material, regardless of the source, and presenting these as one’s own without proper citation or reference to the original source. Examples of sources from which the ideas, expressions of ideas or works of others may be drawn from include, but are not limited to: books, articles, papers, websites, literary compositions and phrases, performance compositions, chemical compounds, art works, laboratory reports, research results, calculations and the results of calculations, diagrams, constructions, computer reports, computer code/software, material on the internet and/or conversations.

Examples of plagiarism include, but are not limited to:

- Any submission prepared in whole or in part, by someone else;
- Using ideas or direct, verbatim quotations, paraphrased material, algorithms, formulae, scientific or mathematical concepts, or ideas without appropriate acknowledgment in any academic assignment;
- Using another’s data or research findings without appropriate acknowledgement;
- Submitting a computer program developed in whole or in part by someone else, with or without modifications, as one’s own; and

- failing to acknowledge sources through the use of proper citations when using another's work and/or failing to use quotations marks.

Use of Artificial Intelligence

Unless explicitly permitted by the instructor in a particular course, any use of generative artificial intelligence (AI) tools to produce assessed content (e.g., text, code, equations, image, summary, video, etc.) is considered a violation of academic integrity standards.

Procedures in Cases of Suspected Violations

Violations of the Academic Integrity Policy are serious offences which cannot be resolved directly with the course's instructor. When an instructor suspects a violation of the Academic Integrity Policy, the Associate Dean of the Faculty conducts a rigorous investigation, including an interview with the student. Penalties are not trivial. They may include a mark of zero for the assignment/exam in question or a final grade of "F" for the course. More information on the University's Academic Integrity Policy can be found at: <https://carleton.ca/registrar/academic-integrity/>.

Intellectual property

Student or professor materials created for this course (including presentations and posted notes, labs, case studies, assignments and exams) remain the intellectual property of the author(s). They are intended for personal use and may not be reproduced or redistributed without prior written consent of the author(s).

Permissibility of submitting substantially the same piece of work more than once for academic credit.

If group or collaborative work is expected or allowed, provide a clear and specific description of how and to what extent you consider collaboration to be acceptable or appropriate, especially in the completion of written assignments.

Submission and Return of Term Work

Papers must be submitted directly to the instructor according to the instructions in the course outline. The departmental office will not accept assignments submitted in hard copy.

Grading

Standing in a course is determined by the course instructor, subject to the approval of the faculty Dean. Final standing in courses will be shown by alphabetical grades. The system of grades used, with corresponding grade points is:

Percentage	Letter grade	12-point scale	Percentage	Letter grade	12-point scale
90-100	A+	12	67-69	C+	6

85-89	A	11	63-66	C	5
80-84	A-	10	60-62	C-	4
77-79	B+	9	57-59	D+	3
73-76	B	8	53-56	D	2
70-72	B-	7	50-52	D-	1

Standing in a course is determined by the course instructor subject to the approval of the Faculty Dean. This means that grades submitted by the instructor may be subject to revision. No grades are final until they have been approved by the Dean.

Carleton E-mail Accounts

All email communication to students from the Department of Political Science will be via official Carleton University e-mail accounts and/or Brightspace. As important course and university information is distributed this way, it is the student's responsibility to monitor their Carleton University email accounts and Brightspace.

Carleton Political Science Society

The Carleton Political Science Society (CPSS) has made its mission to provide a social environment for politically inclined students and faculty. By hosting social events, including Model Parliament, debates, professional development sessions and more, CPSS aims to involve all political science students at Carleton University. Our mandate is to arrange social and academic activities in order to instill a sense of belonging within the Department and the larger University community. Members can benefit through our networking opportunities, academic engagement initiatives and numerous events which aim to complement both academic and social life at Carleton University. To find out more, visit us on Facebook <https://www.facebook.com/CarletonPoliticalScienceSociety/>.

Official Course Outline

The course outline posted to the Political Science website is the official course outline.
