Course Description

Drawing upon selected theoretical questions in political science and feminist theory, this course aims to give students an understanding of the key historical and contemporary debates on gender and globalization. Using gender as an approach, the first section of the course introduces students to the antecedents, ethics, causes, contradictions, and consequences of globalization. The second half of the course discusses the impact of globalization on gender and sexual diversity, highlights varied responses to globalization, and discusses alternative visions. The course draws upon case studies and debates from diverse regions, and compares the similarities and differences across cases.

Readings

The readings for the course are available electronically, and the links will be posted on Ares. The required readings are also available on library reserves.

Course Requirements and Grading Criteria

- Critical Summary and Presentation (20%)
  Students are expected to hand in one short-response paper during the semester. The paper is 15 percent of the final grade and should be handed in on the day the material is covered in class. The paper should focus on issues related to the particular theme of the week, and respond critically to the discussion. The paper may also connect themes across readings covered in other weeks. Students are also expected to present the main argument of their response papers in class. This class presentation is 5 percent of the final grade.
• Attendance and Participation (25%)
  Students should attend and participate actively in all class discussions and complete the required readings for each week. Students will be evaluated on the frequency and quality of participation.

• Summary Abstracts (15%)
  Over the course of the semester each student must submit in class two short (500 words) summaries of two readings on specifically assigned weeks. The summaries must be structured as abstracts. These abstracts should summarize readings and present main arguments.

• Essay Topic and Abstract (5%)
  Students are expected to select an essay topic in consultation with the instructor. The essay topic and a brief abstract are 5 percent of the grade. The abstract is due in class on October 29.

• Essay (35%)
  Students are expected to complete an essay based on their abstract, due on December 11, 2018. Late papers will be accepted until December 14, 2017, and must be stamped and dropped off at the Political Science office. These late papers are retrieved every business day at 4 p.m., stamped with that day’s date, and then forwarded to the class instructor. A cumulative penalty of 2 percent per day is applied to late submissions. If a student has a medical certificate or other documentary evidence to excuse missing the deadline, the penalty may be waived.

  The essay should be approximately 17–20 pages (double-spaced) in length. Students are graded on the overall understanding of the material covered, the clarity of the topic presentation, and the logical consistency of the arguments. For essays that will not be returned in class that students would like to have returned, please attach a stamped self-addressed envelope to the essay. Assignments sent by fax or email will not be accepted.

  Note: Each class assignment is graded out of 100 marks. For late submissions, a penalty of two marks per day will be deducted from the assignment’s grade.

Plagiarism
The University Senate defines plagiarism as “presenting, whether intentional or not, the ideas, expression of ideas or work of others as one’s own.” This can include:

• reproducing or paraphrasing portions of someone else’s published or unpublished material, regardless of the source, and presenting these as one’s own without proper citation or reference to the original source;
• submitting a take-home examination, essay, laboratory report or other assignment written, in whole or in part, by someone else;
• using ideas or direct, verbatim quotations, or paraphrased material, concepts, or ideas without appropriate acknowledgment in any academic assignment;
• using another’s data or research findings;
• failing to acknowledge sources through the use of proper citations when using another’s works and/or failing to use quotation marks;
• handing in "substantially the same piece of work for academic credit more than once without prior written permission of the course instructor in which the submission occurs.

Plagiarism is a serious offence which cannot be resolved directly with the course’s instructor. The Associate Deans of the Faculty conduct a rigorous investigation, including an interview with the student, when an instructor suspects a piece of work has been plagiarized. Penalties are not trivial. They may include a mark of zero for the plagiarized work or a final grade of "F" for the course.

Student or professor materials created for this course (including presentations and posted notes, labs, case studies, assignments and exams) remain the intellectual property of the author(s). They are intended for personal use and may not be reproduced or redistributed without prior written consent of the author(s).

Submission and Return of Term Work
Papers must be submitted directly to the instructor according to the instructions in the course outline and will not be date-stamped in the departmental office. Late assignments may be submitted to the drop box in the corridor outside B640 Loeb. Assignments will be retrieved every business day at 4 p.m., stamped with that day's date, and then distributed to the instructor. For essays not returned in class please attach a stamped, self-addressed envelope if you wish to have your assignment returned by mail. Final exams are intended solely for the purpose of evaluation and will not be returned.

Grading
Standing in a course is determined by the course instructor, subject to the approval of the faculty Dean. Final standing in courses will be shown by alphabetical grades. The system of grades used, with corresponding grade points is:
