Fall 2022

PSCI 4809A
Sports and Politics

6:05 p.m. – 8:55 p.m. Mondays
Online

Instructor: Dr. William Cross
Email: bill_cross@carleton.ca

Office hours: via zoom, Mondays 10:30 a.m. – 12:30 p.m.

The class will meet via Zoom every Monday of the term. Please note that a class is scheduled for Friday, December 9 as the University has declared that this day will follow a Monday schedule. There will be group presentations scheduled for this class, so attendance is mandatory.

Zoom links for class and office hours will be distributed through Brightspace prior to the first class.

This is a 'special topics' seminar on the relationship between sports and politics. Topics covered in the course will include: how sport is organized in Canada; Canada's sport policies; sport and national identity; sport as integrative with emphasis on social class, sex and gender identity, race, and reconciliation; sport and nation-building and sport-washing; and, the value of mega-sports games.

There is a considerable amount of reading for the course and all readings are available electronically either on course reserve through the Carleton library (ARES) or on the Brightspace platform. A list of readings will be posted on Brightspace prior to the first class. Students are expected to have read and carefully considered each reading before class. Classes will run as seminar discussions and the bulk of the time should involve students discussing the material with each other.

Students are expected to attend each class. As this is a discussion-based class, it is highly preferred that students attend with their cameras on.

Assignments and evaluation

Seminar attendance and participation (15%): Students are expected to attend each class session and to participate fully in class discussions. The grade will reflect both the quality and quantity of participation (with greater emphasis on the former).

Article presentation and written response (20%): Each student will be responsible for presenting one assigned article to the class (maximum 10 minute presentation). This is strictly an oral presentation – no powerpoint slides. The student will then prepare a written response, of approximately 1,000 – 1,200 words, for submission the week after the presentation. The written response should both reflect on the substance of the article and the class discussion related to the topic. In this way, it is more than a summary of the article. Note the use of the word ‘topic’ above as the response should go beyond the particular reading.

Group presentation and essay (35%): Students will be randomly assigned to a small group (numbers dependent on final enrolment) and will prepare a debate around a question assigned from a list provided by the professor. The in-class ‘debate’ should last approximately 30 minutes and each student will submit an individually-prepared essay of approximately 2,000 – 2,200 words that reviews the arguments on both sides of the issue and identifies which is most persuasive and why. The essay is due on Monday, 5 December 2022. The presentations will be held during the last two class sessions.

In-class test (30%): An in-class test will be held on 21 November, 2022. Students must attend and write the test during regular class hours.

Covid-19 Pandemic Measures

It is important to remember that COVID is still present in Ottawa. The situation can change at any time and the risks of new variants and outbreaks are very real. There are a number of actions you can take to lower your risk and the risk you pose to those around you including being vaccinated, wearing a mask, staying home when you're sick, washing your hands and maintaining proper respiratory and cough etiquette.

Feeling sick? Remaining vigilant and not attending work or school when sick or with symptoms is critically important. If you feel ill or exhibit COVID-19 symptoms do not come to class or campus. If you feel ill or exhibit symptoms while on campus or in class, please leave campus immediately. In all situations, you should follow Carleton's symptom reporting protocols.

Masks: Masks are no longer mandatory in university buildings and facilities. However, we continue to recommend masking when indoors, particularly if physical distancing cannot be maintained. We are aware that personal preferences regarding optional mask use will vary greatly, and we ask that we all show consideration and care for each other during this transition.

Vaccines: While proof of vaccination is no longer required to access campus or participate in in-person Carleton activities, it may become necessary for the University to bring back proof of vaccination requirements on short notice if the situation and public health advice changes. Students are strongly encouraged to get a full course of vaccination, including booster doses as soon as they are eligible and submit their booster dose information in cuScreen as soon as possible. Please note that Carleton cannot guarantee that it will be able to offer virtual or hybrid learning options for those who are unable to attend the campus.

All members of the Carleton community are required to follow requirements and guidelines regarding health and safety which may change from time to time. For the most recent information about Carleton's COVID-19 response and health and safety requirements please see the University's COVID-19 website and review the Frequently Asked Questions \(FAQs\). Plagiarism

Carleton's Academic Integrity Policy defines plagiarism as "presenting, whether intentional or not, the ideas, expression of ideas or work of others as one's own." This includes reproducing or paraphrasing portions of someone else's published or unpublished material, regardless of the source, and presenting these as one's own without proper citation or reference to the original source. Examples of sources from which the ideas, expressions of ideas or works of others may be drawn from include, but are not limited to: books, articles, papers, websites, literary compositions and phrases, performance compositions, chemical compounds, art works, laboratory reports, research results, calculations and the results of calculations, diagrams, constructions, computer reports, computer code/software, material on the internet and/or conversations.

Examples of plagiarism include, but are not limited to:

- any submission prepared in whole or in part, by someone else;
- using ideas or direct, verbatim quotations, paraphrased material, algorithms, formulae, scientific or mathematical concepts, or ideas without appropriate acknowledgment in any academic assignment;
- using another's data or research findings without appropriate acknowledgement;
- submitting a computer program developed in whole or in part by someone else, with or without modifications, as one's own; and
- failing to acknowledge sources through the use of proper citations when using another's work and/or failing to use quotations marks.

Plagiarism is a serious offence which cannot be resolved directly with the course's instructor. The Associate Deans of the Faculty conduct a rigorous investigation, including an interview with the student, when an instructor suspects a piece of work has been plagiarized. Penalties are not trivial. They may include a mark of zero for the plagiarized work or a final grade of "F" for the course.

More information on the University's Academic Integrity Policy can be found at: <https://carleton.ca/registrar/academic-integrity/>.

Student or professor materials created for this course (including presentations and posted notes, labs, case studies, assignments and exams) remain the intellectual property of the author(s). Submission and Return of Term Work

Papers must be submitted directly to the instructor according to the instructions in the course outline. The departmental office will not accept assignments submitted in hard copy.

Grading

Standing in a course is determined by the course instructor, subject to the approval of the faculty Dean. Final standing in courses will be shown by alphabetical grades. The system of grades used, with corresponding grade points is:

Percentage	Letter grade	12-point scale	Percentage	Letter grade	12-point scale
