Winter 2018

Department of Political Science

PSCI 5003W
Political Parties in Canada
Seminar: Friday, 8:35 a.m. - 11:25 p.m.

Instructor: Professor W. Cross

Office: 699D Loeb

Email address: william.cross@carleton.ca

Office hours: Tuesdays 1:15 – 2:30 p.m. & Fridays 11:30 – 12:15 p.m.

Note: Please do not send substantive questions relating to course material via e mail. When you have questions, it is much preferred for you to drop by my office and for us to chat about the material.

Course Objective:

This is a graduate seminar course investigating the organization, role and practices of political parties. While the focus is on Canadian parties, we will situate the debates surrounding Canada's parties in a comparative context. The course will be centered around questions relating to the role of parties in an advanced contemporary democratic state. We will consider how peculiarities of the Canadian context effect the organization and functions of our parties. The topics to be covered include party models, organization, membership, personnel recruitment, election campaigning and party financing.

Course Requirements:

The class will meet every Friday of the term for approximately two and one-half hours. Students must attend each class. The seminars will be student driven. It is not my intention to give a lecture on any of these topics. Depending on our numbers, one or two students will be responsible for leading the discussion each class. After a brief introduction by the instructor, students responsible for that class will present an overview of the readings. Rather than detailed summaries of the readings, students are expected to distill the key points from them, focusing on the important research questions and the similarities and differences among the readings. When appropriate, attention should be paid to methodological questions. Presenting students should also place the Canadian questions within the broader comparative literature and should prepare questions for seminar discussion. All students must be prepared to discuss the assigned readings for each class. Most readings are available on course reserve in the university library. A full list of assigned readings will be distributed at the first class and posted on CU Learn.

There is one required text that is available for purchase in the University Book Store:

William P. Cross and Richard S. Katz, eds. 2013, The Challenges of Intra-Party Democracy, Oxford: Oxford University Press.

Each student will be responsible for leading class discussion (seminar presentation) on 2 occasions.

Student grades will be comprised of the following components:

Seminar presentations: 20 per cent

Seminar participation: 20 per cent

Examination: 30 percent

Research paper: 30 per cent

Term Paper: each student will write a research-based paper of approximately 20 double spaced pages in length. The paper should be based upon substantial research conducted by the student on a topic chosen by the student in consultation with the professor. Students should follow the department's style guide (found on the departmental website). The grade assigned for the paper will reflect an assessment of the quality and persuasiveness of the argument, the clarity of the argument, the depth of research evident, the appropriate use of sources and the clarity and accuracy of the writing. Papers are due in class on April 6, 2018. LATE PAPERS WILL NOT BE ACCEPTED.

A two-page paper prospectus is due in class on March 9, 2018. This shall include the title of the paper, a short description of the research question being addressed, where this question fits into the broader literature on political parties and a list of about 5 principal sources for your paper. The quality of the prospectus will be considered in assigning a grade to the term paper.

Seminar Participation: each student is expected to be an active participant in each seminar. This requires that students read and consider the assigned material prior to each class. Student contributions should reflect a careful reading of the material and should generally add to the class discussion. While each student should be a frequent participant in discussions, quality of contribution is more important than quantity.

Examination: An examination covering assigned course readings and material covered in the seminars will be given during the regular examination period. All students must sit this examination.

Seminar topics:

week 1 (January 12): Introduction, overview and organization

week 2 (January 19): Political parties: definition and functions

Academic Accommodations

The Paul Menton Centre for Students with Disabilities (PMC) provides services to students with Learning Disabilities (LD), psychiatric/mental health disabilities, Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD), Autism Spectrum Disorders (ASD), chronic medical conditions, and impairments in mobility, hearing, and vision. If you have a disability requiring academic accommodations in this course, please contact PMC at 613-520-6608 or pmc@carleton.ca for a formal evaluation. If you are already registered with the PMC, contact your PMC coordinator to send me your Letter of Accommodation at the beginning of the term, and no later than two weeks before the first in-class scheduled test or exam requiring accommodation (if applicable). After requesting accommodation from PMC, meet with me to ensure accommodation arrangements are made. Please consult the PMC website for the deadline to request accommodations for the formally-scheduled exam (if applicable).

For Religious Observance: Students requesting accommodation for religious observances should apply in writing to their instructor for alternate dates and/or means of satisfying academic requirements. Such requests should be made during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist, but no later than two weeks before the compulsory academic event. Accommodation is to be worked out directly and on an individual basis between the student and the instructor(s) involved. Instructors will make accommodations in a way that avoids academic disadvantage to the student. Instructors and students may contact an Equity Services Advisor for assistance (www.carleton.ca/equity).

For Pregnancy: Pregnant students requiring academic accommodations are encouraged to contact an Equity Advisor in Equity Services to complete a letter of accommodation. Then, make an appointment to discuss your needs with the instructor at least two weeks prior to the first academic event in which it is anticipated the accommodation will be required.

Plagiarism: The University Senate defines plagiarism as “presenting, whether intentional or not, the ideas, expression of ideas or work of others as one’s own.” This can include:

- reproducing or paraphrasing portions of someone else’s published or unpublished material, regardless of the source, and presenting these as one’s own without proper citation or reference to the original source;
- submitting a take-home examination, essay, laboratory report or other assignment written, in whole or in part, by someone else;
- using ideas or direct, verbatim quotations, or paraphrased material, concepts, or ideas without appropriate acknowledgment in any academic assignment;
- using another’s data or research findings;
- failing to acknowledge sources through the use of proper citations when using another’s works and/or failing to use quotation marks;
- handing in "substantially the same piece of work for academic credit more than once without prior written permission of the course instructor in which the submission occurs.

Plagiarism is a serious offence which cannot be resolved directly with the course’s instructor. The Associate Deans of the Faculty conduct a rigorous investigation, including an interview with the student, when an instructor suspects a piece of work has been plagiarized. Penalties are not trivial. They may include a mark of zero for the plagiarized work or a final grade of "F" for the course.

Student or professor materials created for this course (including presentations and posted notes, labs, case studies, assignments and exams) remain the intellectual property of the author(s). They are intended for personal use and may not be reproduced or redistributed without prior written consent of the author(s).

Submission and Return of Term Work: Papers must be submitted directly to the instructor according to the instructions in the course outline and will not be date-stamped in the departmental office. Late assignments may be submitted to the drop box in the corridor outside B640 Loeb. Assignments will be retrieved every business day at 4 p.m., stamped with that day's date, and then distributed to the instructor. For essays not returned in class please attach a stamped, self-addressed envelope if you wish to have your assignment returned by mail. Final exams are intended solely for the purpose of evaluation and will not be returned.

Grading: Standing in a course is determined by the course instructor, subject to the approval of the faculty Dean. Final standing in courses will be shown by alphabetical grades. The system of grades used, with corresponding grade points is:

Percentage	Letter grade	12-point scale	Percentage	Letter grade	12-point scale
90-100	A+	12	67-69	C+	6
85-89	A	11	63-66	C	5
80-84	A-	10	60-62	C-	4
77-79	B+	9	57-59	D+	3
73-76	B	8	53-56	D	2
70-72	B-	7	50-52	D-	1

Approval of final grades: Standing in a course is determined by the course instructor subject to the approval of the Faculty Dean. This means that grades submitted by an instructor may be subject to revision. No grades are final until they have been approved by the Dean.

Carleton E-mail Accounts: All email communication to students from the Department of Political Science will be via official Carleton university e-mail accounts and/or cuLearn. As important course and University information is distributed this way, it is the student’s responsibility to monitor their Carleton and cuLearn accounts.

Carleton Political Science Society: The Carleton Political Science Society (CPSS) has made its mission to provide a social environment for politically inclined students and faculty. Holding social events, debates, and panel discussions, CPSS aims to involve all political science students at Carleton University. Our mandate is to arrange social and academic activities in order to instill a sense of belonging within the Department and the larger University community. Members can benefit through numerous opportunities which will complement both academic and social life at Carleton University. To find out more, visit <https://www.facebook.com/groups/politicalsciencesociety/> or come to our office in Loeb D688.

Official Course Outline: The course outline posted to the Political Science website is the official course outline.
