1. Course Overview

When should Canada intervene militarily in other countries? Should Canada’s efforts at international engagement focus on multilateral institutions or bilateral agreements? How should Canada manage its relationship with the United States? Who is responsible for making Canadian foreign policy?

Each of these questions grows in significance as globalization broadens and deepens the connections between Canada and its international environment. To understand these questions this course provides students with a broad introduction to the study of Canadian foreign policy. Focusing primarily on the post-Cold War and post-9/11 periods, the course surveys key themes and processes including domestic and international sources of foreign policy, security, trade, and Canada-US relations.

2. Aims and Objectives

This course aims to deepen students’ general knowledge of Canadian foreign policy and to provide them with the conceptual tools to critically assess contemporary developments in Canada’s international affairs. The course begins with an overview of key theories of foreign policy including Liberal Internationalism, Complex Neorealism, Peripheral Dependence, as well as more critical approaches. The second part of the course examines the main sources of Canadian foreign policy including domestic actors, such as the role of Prime Ministers and Parliament, and external sources, such as American unipolarity and international institutions. The final part of the course engages with key issues and themes including defence and security, trade, gender, and indigenous diplomacy.

By the end of the course students will be able to:

- demonstrate factual knowledge about the historical and contemporary practice of Canadian foreign policy;
- explain central concepts and theories in the study of foreign policy;
- identify key sources of foreign policy behaviour; and
• critically analyze and assess contemporary developments in Canada’s international affairs.

3. Required Texts

The textbook can be purchased at the Carleton University bookstore. A reserve copy will be available at the library. All other required readings will be posted online.

4. Evaluation

Group Presentation ........................... 20%
Research Essay .............................. 30%
Midterm Exam ................................. 25%
Take-Home Exam ............................ 25%

Note: Students must complete all items to receive a passing grade.

Group Presentation

In small groups students will be responsible for delivering one class presentation based on an assigned academic article. The presentation will consist of 1) a brief analytical summary of the article, 2) an assessment of the article’s strength and weaknesses, 3) its significance to the broader study of Canadian foreign policy, and 4) at least two discussion questions for the class. The presentation will be 20 minutes long, include a power point presentation, and be accompanied by a 1-page single-spaced summary prepared for other students. At the conclusion of the presentation the group will lead a brief class discussion of the article.

The presentation will be evaluated based on content, collaboration, organization, and presentation style. Following the presentation, students will email the Instructor a brief 1-paragraph summary of each individual member’s contribution to the project. Sign up for presentations begins on September 7th, and presentations will begin on September 21st. Sign up is organized on a first-come-first-serve basis. Students who do not sign up for presentation by September 21st will be assigned a group by the Instructor.

Beyond their selected presentation article, students are not required to read all of the articles selected presentation, but it is highly recommended.

Research Paper

Students will write a research paper which explains a select issue in Canadian foreign policy. The focus of the essay will be twofold: (1) which of the theories discussed in class best explains this foreign policy, and (2) what are the key sources driving this foreign policy behaviour. The essay should incorporate course material as well as independent research. Students may pick from the following topics:

- Canada’s mission against ISIL
- The current renegotiation of NAFTA
- Canada’s Feminist foreign policy
- Canada’s response to the global refugee crisis
- Canada’s intervention in Libya
- The 2010 G8 Muskoka Summit
- The Paris Climate Accord
- UN Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples

This is an argumentative paper. It requires you to take a position on which theory best explains your issue, and which sources of foreign policy are the most significant. Your paper must do more than just describe what is occurring. A good paper you will (a) describe the issue; (b) identify the theory which best explains the issue; (c) identify the key sources driving this behaviour. Your grade will reflect how well you satisfy these three criteria. The research paper should be 3000 words in length (footnotes, bibliography and cover page do not count towards this total). The research papers are due Friday, November 16th in class.

Late Paper Policy: Papers are deducted 3% for each day they are late (e.g. an 80% grade becomes 77% for 1 day late).

Midterm Exam

The midterm exam will be written in class and covers readings and lectures from weeks 1 - 6. The exam will be divided between multiple choice, short answer, and long-form essay questions. Students will have three hours to write the exam.

Take-Home Exam

The final exam for this course will be an open book take-home exam. The exam will be focused on long-form essay questions and will cover material from the entire course. Sources must be cited appropriately in either Chicago, APA, or MLA styles. Students will be issued the examination questions at the end of the final class on Friday, November 30th. The exams are due on December 21st at 9:00am and must be submitted electronically via cuLearn. It is acceptable to participate in group discussions as you prepare for the written exam, but your exam must be written by you alone.

Plagiarism
The University Senate defines plagiarism as “presenting, whether intentional or not, the ideas, expression of ideas or work of others as one’s own.” This can include:

- reproducing or paraphrasing portions of someone else’s published or unpublished material, regardless of the source, and presenting these as one’s own without proper citation or reference to the original source;
- submitting a take-home examination, essay, laboratory report or other assignment written, in whole or in part, by someone else;
- using ideas or direct, verbatim quotations, or paraphrased material, concepts, or ideas without appropriate acknowledgment in any academic assignment;
- using another’s data or research findings;
- failing to acknowledge sources through the use of proper citations when using another’s works and/or failing to use quotation marks;
- handing in "substantially the same piece of work for academic credit more than once without prior written permission of the course instructor in which the submission occurs.

Plagiarism is a serious offence which cannot be resolved directly with the course’s instructor. The Associate Deans of the Faculty conduct a rigorous investigation, including an interview with the student, when an instructor suspects a piece of work has been plagiarized. Penalties are not trivial. They may include a mark of zero for the plagiarized work or a final grade of "F" for the course. Student or professor materials created for this course (including presentations and posted notes, labs, case studies, assignments and exams) remain the intellectual property of the author(s). They are intended for personal use and may not be reproduced or redistributed without prior written consent of the author(s).

Submission and Return of Term Work
Papers must be submitted directly to the instructor according to the instructions in the course outline and will not be date-stamped in the departmental office. Late assignments may be submitted to the drop box in the corridor outside B640 Loeb. Assignments will be retrieved every business day at 4 p.m., stamped with that day's date, and then distributed to the instructor. For essays not returned in class please attach a stamped, self-addressed envelope if you wish to have your assignment returned by mail. Final exams are intended solely for the purpose of evaluation and will not be returned.

Grading

Standing in a course is determined by the course instructor, subject to the approval of the faculty Dean. Final standing in courses will be shown by alphabetical grades. The system of grades used, with corresponding grade points is:

Approval of final grades

Standing in a course is determined by the course instructor subject to the approval of the Faculty Dean. This means that grades submitted by an instructor may be subject to revision. No grades are final until they have been approved by the Dean.

Carleton E-mail Accounts

All email communication to students from the Department of Political Science will be via official Carleton university e-mail accounts and/or cuLearn. As important course and University information is distributed this way, it is the student’s responsibility to monitor their Carleton and cuLearn accounts.

Carleton Political Science Society

"The Carleton Political Science Society (CPSS) has made its mission to provide a social environment for politically inclined students and faculty. By hosting social events, including Model Parliament, debates, professional development sessions and more, CPSS aims to involve all political science students at Carleton University. Our mandate is to arrange social and academic activities in order to instill a sense of belonging within the Department and the larger University community. Members can benefit through our networking opportunities, academic engagement initiatives and numerous events which aim to complement both academic and social life at Carleton University.
