1. Course Overview

This course provides students with a broad introduction to the study of international politics. The central focus will be a stock taking of the current state of globalization. In recent decades, international politics has been marked by an unprecedented period of global integration and development. But in recent years we’ve seen a series of fractures and disruptions—the emergence of Brexit, the destabilization of NATO, and rising opposition to trade—all of which raise questions over the continuing momentum of globalization. To understand these issues the course will introduce students to the central theories, concepts, and debates in the field of International Relations (IR).

2. Aims and Objectives

The central aim of the course is to provide students with a broad introduction to the academic discipline of IR. The course will increase students’ general knowledge of international politics, help you to understand key processes in international history, and familiarize you with the central theories, concepts, and debates in the field. The course is divided into two sections. In the first part of the course we’ll be looking at a series of different IR theories. These include:

- Liberalism
- Realism
- Marxism & Critical Theory
- Constructivism
- Post-colonialism & Feminism

In the second half of the course we’ll be looking at a series of key issues in international politics. These include:
• Globalization
• International Security and Nuclear Proliferation
• Trade, Poverty, and Development
• Law and International Organizations
• Race and Nationalism

By the end of the course students will comprehend key concepts, theories, and debates in the field, identify and analyze important issues in international politics, and be able to generate critical and informed views on events and processes in international relations.

3. Required Texts

The textbook can be purchased at the Carleton University bookstore. A reserve copy will be available at the library. All other required readings will be posted online.

4. Evaluation

Discussion Group Participation (Weekly) ………………. 15%
Essay Proposal (October 19th)…………………………… 15%
Research Essay (November 30th)………………………… 35%
Final Exam (TBA)………………………………………….. 35%

Note: Students must complete all items to receive a passing grade.

Discussion Group Participation (15%)

Beginning the second week of the course, students will attend weekly 1-hour discussion groups led by a Teaching Assistant. Participation grades are based on attendance as well as the quality and quantity of participation in each meeting. It is important for you to come prepared to discuss the readings assigned for each week. It is essential that you show respect to the TA and other students participating in the discussion group. Disrespectful, rude, and intimidating behavior will not be tolerated.

Please note that there is no way to make up your participation grade at the end of term. If you choose to miss all discussion group meetings, your evaluation for this element of the course will be deemed incomplete and you will be unable to receive a passing grade. Please notify your TA immediately if there are legitimate reasons (health, family emergency) why you are unable to attend a specific discussion section.
Essay Proposal (15%)

Due October 19th, this assignment is intended to help students begin preparing for their major research essay. The core proposal is 2-pages (single spaced), and will:

- Identify a specific issue or area in international politics (e.g. what do you plan to research; what is the specific case under study).
- Formulate a clear research question (e.g. why did state ‘A’ do policy ‘B’; what causes international cooperation in policy area ‘X’).
- State a thesis or central argument which directly responds to your research question and explains the issue under study. A good thesis will frame your argument around a specific theoretical perspective.
- Provide an overview of three to four arguments which will support your thesis.

On a separate page, students will include a proposed bibliography with a minimum of 5 scholarly and relevant sources. Sources can be referenced in either MLA or APA styles. The full proposal will be 3-pages (2 for the core proposal, 1 for the bibliography).

Other requirements for the proposal include:

- 1-inch margins
- 12-point Times New Roman font
- Title
- Numbered Pages

In terms of grade breakdown, the core proposal constitutes 12% of your final grade, the bibliography is worth 3%. Papers are to be handed in at the end of class on the day they are due. If they are not submitted in class, they must be submitted to the drop box outside the Political Science Department before 4pm (in Loeb Building B640).

Late Paper Policy: Papers are deducted 3% for each day they are late (e.g. an 80% grade becomes 77% for 1 day late).

Research Essay (35%)

Due November 30th, this essay builds on the earlier proposal. The central purpose of the research essay is for students to apply a theoretical framework discussed in the first section of the course to an issue in international politics. The essay will be 7-8 pages (double spaced), and is intended show independent research building on the material discussed in the course.

The essay should include properly documented references and a bibliography with a minimum of eight sources (including at least 5 scholarly sources). Essays will primarily be evaluated based on argument and content, but spelling, grammar, and organization will also be taken into consideration. Other requirements for the essay include:
Papers are to be handed in at the end of class on the day they are due. If they are not submitted in class, they must be submitted to the drop box outside the Political Science Department before 4pm (in Loeb Building B640).

Late Paper Policy: Papers are deducted 3% for each day they are late (e.g. an 80% grade becomes 77% for 1 day late).

Final Examination (35%)

The final exam is comprehensive and can include material covering the entire course. It will be scheduled during the official university examination period. The exam will be divided between multiple choice, short answers questions, and one long-form essay.

Plagiarism
The University Senate defines plagiarism as “presenting, whether intentional or not, the ideas, expression of ideas or work of others as one’s own.” This can include:

- reproducing or paraphrasing portions of someone else’s published or unpublished material, regardless of the source, and presenting these as one’s own without proper citation or reference to the original source;
- submitting a take-home examination, essay, laboratory report or other assignment written, in whole or in part, by someone else;
- using ideas or direct, verbatim quotations, or paraphrased material, concepts, or ideas without appropriate acknowledgment in any academic assignment;
- using another’s data or research findings;
- failing to acknowledge sources through the use of proper citations when using another’s works and/or failing to use quotation marks;
- handing in "substantially the same piece of work for academic credit more than once without prior written permission of the course instructor in which the submission occurs."
Plagiarism is a serious offence which cannot be resolved directly with the course’s instructor. The Associate Deans of the Faculty conduct a rigorous investigation, including an interview with the student, when an instructor suspects a piece of work has been plagiarized. Penalties are not trivial. They may include a mark of zero for the plagiarized work or a final grade of "F" for the course.

Student or professor materials created for this course (including presentations and posted notes, labs, case studies, assignments and exams) remain the intellectual property of the author(s). They are intended for personal use and may not be reproduced or redistributed without prior written consent of the author(s).
