

PSCI 5915 A

Special Topics in Political Science

U.S. Foreign Policy in the Obama Era

This course focuses on the rapidly changing international environment and the challenges facing U.S. foreign policy-makers in what might be described as a “post-post-Cold War” world. Attention will be paid particularly to analyzing the policies of the Bush-Clinton-Bush era, with concern for evaluating the impact on the Obama administration of the lasting legacy of the Bush doctrine and the waning global dominance of the U.S.

Instructor: Dr. Jeffrey Ayres, Visiting Scholar
 Saint Michael’s College, Vermont USA

Schedule: July to August 2010

Time & Location: Please consult Carleton Central