

PSCI 4801 C

Selected Problems in Global Politics

“The Canadian Intelligence Community”

The role and function of intelligence in Canadian national decision-making. The course studies the key agencies, their mandates, Canada’s intelligence role in the international environment, as well as looks at intelligence analysis, accountability architecture, and the impact of intelligence on policy-making.

- Instructor: Dr. Kurt Jensen
Adjunct Professor of Political Science
- Schedule: September to December 2015
- Time & Location: Please consult Carleton Central
- Prerequisite: Fourth year Honours standing or permission of the Department and one of GPOL 1000, PSCI 2601, PSCI 2602, PSCI 3107, PSCI 3600, PSCI 3601, PSCI 3603 and PSCI 3703.