Course Description

This course introduces students to concepts, methods, and processes of qualitative research in political science. The course contains both theoretical and empirical issues including the philosophy of social sciences, the nature and structure of argument, theory-building, research design, case selection, and multiple types of data collection and analysis. At the end of the course, students are expected to have a general understanding of qualitative research methods in political science and be able to use those methods in conducting their research. The course is taught online every Monday and Tuesday via Zoom. The zoom link is available on the course's Brightspace page.

Textbooks

- Berdahl, Loleen, and Jason Roy. 2021. Explorations: Conducting Empirical Research in Canadian Political Science (4th ed.). Oxford: Oxford University. Students may purchase the book online ($ 99).
- All other readings will be available on Ares/Brightspace.

Course Evaluation at a Glance

Course evaluation includes two assignments, tutorials, and a final exam and will be calculated on the following basis:

Assignment 1	10%	October 7
Research Paper	35%	December 9
Tutorials	20%	Each class (with exceptions noted below)
Final Exam	35%	TBA (during official exam period)

Course Evaluation in Detail

A. Assignment 1: Argument (10%)

Select a political science topic/concept and develop an argument about it. Your argument should include a major premise and two or more minor premises and lead to a logic conclusion. A list of topics/concepts with detailed instruction will be posted on Brightspace in due course. Select your topic/concept with the assumption that you will work on it in your second and third assignments. This assignment should not exceed 2-3 pages (double-spaced in 12-point font). Detailed instructions will be posted on Brightspace in due course.

B. Assignment 2: Research Paper (35%)

Students are required to write a research paper on a political science topic. The paper should include a literature review of at least 8 scholarly sources, a research question, an argument, a conceptualization of key terms, case study(s), and a conclusion. The paper should not exceed 12-14 pages (double-spaced in 12-point font, including bibliography). Detailed instructions will be posted on Brightspace in due course.

C. Tutorial (20%)

Tutorial is a critical component of this course. This part of the course will be led by TAs. Students must attend all tutorials and actively participate in breakout room discussions and in reporting the conclusion(s). The format and topics of group discussion will be provided at the end of each lecture.

D. Final Exam (35%)

In-person examination with 3 hours (180 minutes) fixed duration. Students are required to answer two essay questions on topics relevant to the course material. The final exam will be scheduled during the regular examination period. Detailed instructions on the format and requirements of the exam will be provided in the last class. Students can apply for distance examination: “This service is available to students who are required to take an in-person exam but are either studying remotely or traveling due to participation in an athletic program. Eligibility for this service requires that students must meet the specific course requirements outlined in their course outline. Additionally, to qualify, students must be located at least 160 km away from Carleton University on the day of the exam.”

E. Citation

Assignments must follow standard bibliographic and citation formats including MLA, APA, and Chicago Manual of Style. For each assignment select one citation format and use it consistently throughout the paper.

F. Submission Policy

All assignments should be submitted electronically in Brightspace. E-mailed assignments will not be accepted. Late submissions will be penalized 2 percent per 24 hours. If you need an extension for an assignment, contact the instructor or the TA prior to the due date.

Statement on use of AI

Unless explicitly authorized by the instructor or teaching assistants, the use of generative artificial intelligence (AI) tools to produce any content (e.g., text, code, equations, images, summaries, videos, or other materials) constitutes a violation of Carleton University's academic integrity standards. Therefore, the use of AI tools is not permitted for any written assignments in this course.

GRADING SYSTEM

The grading system is described in the Undergraduate Calendar section 5.4.

Standing in a course is determined by the course instructor subject to the approval of the Faculty Dean. This means that grades submitted by the instructor may be subject to revision. No grades are final until they have been approved by the Dean.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY

Academic integrity is an essential element of a productive and successful career as a student. Students are required to familiarize themselves with the university's Academic Integrity Policy.

PLAGIARISM

The University Senate defines plagiarism as "presenting, whether intentional or not, the ideas, expression of ideas or work of others as one's own." This can include:

- any submission prepared in whole or in part, by someone else, including the unauthorized use of generative AI tools (e.g., ChatGPT);
- reproducing or paraphrasing portions of someone else's published or unpublished material, and presenting these as one's own without proper citation or reference to the original source;
- submitting a take-home examination, essay, laboratory report or other assignment written, in whole or in part, by someone else;
- using ideas or direct, verbatim quotations, or paraphrased material, concepts, or ideas without appropriate acknowledgment in any academic assignment;
- using another's data or research findings;
- failing to acknowledge sources through the use of proper citations when using another's works and/or failing to use quotation marks;
- handing in "substantially the same piece of work for academic credit more than once without prior written permission of the course instructor in which the submission occurs."

Plagiarism is a serious offence that cannot be resolved directly by the course's instructor. The Associate Dean of the Faculty conducts a rigorous investigation, including an interview with the student, when an instructor suspects a piece of work has been plagiarized. Penalties are not trivial. They can include a final grade of "F" for the course.
