Introduction

Poverty remains a serious problem for communities across Canada (National Advisory Council on Poverty, 2022). Typically, if the general population expects the federal, provincial and municipal governments to engage in welfare provisions and alleviate poverty, several solutions may be noted which fall outside of government initiatives. Food banks illustrate such an alternative strategy. They focus on one area connected to poverty, namely fighting food insecurity nationally. However, they are by no means a permanent solution to address hunger.

The purpose of this study is to examine the financial information of selected food banks registered charities in major Canadian cities, across Canadian provinces / territories, including their national / provincial associations. This is part of a mapping exercise to offer an overview of the situation and the ecosystem in the country (See Appendix A for a list of the research notes).

Overall, the study aims to better understand the philanthropic sector of food banks through the following research questions:

- 1) Who is the provincial food banks association in Ontario?
- 2) What are the food banks in major cities in Ontario?
- 3) How can we describe the food banks in major cities in Ontario?
- 4) What are the finances of the provincial association and food banks in major cities in Ontario?

This research note summarizes some information regarding Ontario. It presents a portion of the study such as a summary of the methodology, a description of Feed Ontario and some food banks in Ontario in several cities, namely Toronto, Ottawa-Gatineau (Ontario part), Hamilton, Kitchener-Cambridge-Waterloo, London, and St. Catharines-Niagara and a presentation of their finances.

Methodology

The methodology section summarizes the selection of Canadian food banks and the data collection. A data-driven method was used to identify and analyze the food banks serving Canada's largest urban areas in each of the provinces. More detailed information on the methodology is available in the Overview research note of the series (2025-50RN).

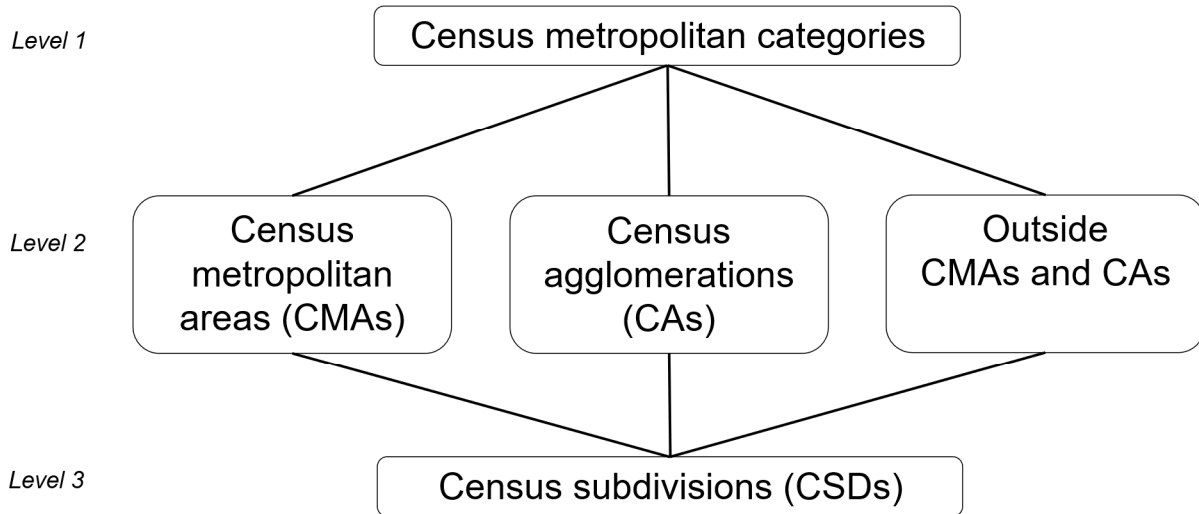

Three figures are presented to summarize the methodology of the study. Figure A illustrates the steps in the selection of Canadian food banks used in this research. Figure B illustrates the Standard Geographical Classification Hierarchy of concepts used by Statistics Canada. They are the Census Metropolitan Areas (CMA), the Census Agglomerations (CA) and the Census subdivisions (CSD). Figure C illustrates the data collection. The scope of the study is interested by information regarding provinces, cities, provincial associations and selected food banks. Information collected could be separated into three groups, namely contextual information on a province or a city, financial information and other information.

Food Banks Situation in Ontario

Situation in Ontario

“Ontario has a large working-class population struggling with poverty. Moreover, the housing crisis and challenges faced by people living with a disability are major issues in terms of poverty.” (Food Banks Canada, 2024b, p.73)

“Over 1 million people in Ontario visited a food bank in the last year. Food banks in the province were visited 7.6 million times from April 2023 – March 2024, which is a 134% increase compared to the same period in 2019-2020.” (Daily Bread Food Bank, 2024a)

“Feed Ontario CEO Carolyn Stewart called the findings “completely staggering,” adding that working people are among the fastest-rising groups accessing food bank services. “People in Ontario are drowning in the rising tide of unaffordability.” (Bilhete, 2024)

Situation in Toronto

“Last year there were close to 3 million visits to Toronto food banks — a 50% increase compared to the year prior. Toronto’s high cost of living, stagnant wages and insufficient income supports continue to drive more people to our doors. Every month we are serving over 13,000 new, unique individuals — these are people who have never had to use emergency food services before.” (Daily Bread Food Bank, 2024a)

“These figures foreshadow a deepening crisis. Food banks are like the canary in the coal mine — for many, turning to food charities is the final safeguard preventing homelessness. Nearly 3 in 4 Toronto food bank clients (74%) spend over 50% of their income on rent, putting them at high risk of becoming unhoused [...]. Close to 1 in 4 (23%) spend 100% of their income on housing, leaving nothing for food, clothing or any other basic need.” (Daily Bread Food Bank, 2024a)

“One in ten people in Toronto are now relying on food banks to make ends meet. Last year, that number was one in twenty. Food insecurity is at crisis levels in Toronto.” (Daily Bread Food Bank and North York Harvest Food Bank, 2023, p.4)

Situation in Ottawa

“Food insecurity in Ottawa has reached a crisis point. Every day, families across our city struggle to put food on the table — an essential human right that many are denied. We, the Ottawa Food Bank and a network of 71 member agencies and 98 food programs, witness this heartbreaking reality firsthand, and we can no longer stand by as the need for food assistance outpaces our capacity to deliver it.” (Wilson, 2024)

“A staggering 1 in 4 households in Ottawa are food insecure; a majority of Ottawa Food Bank users are now severely food insecure; and nearly 1/3 of Ontarians are struggling to meet their basic needs.” (Ottawa Food bank, 2024b, p.6)

“Care Centre Ottawa is an emergency food bank that’s become a lifeline for over 19,000 families annually, up from 27 families per month in its early days. As a member agency of the Ottawa Food Bank network, they see firsthand how food insecurity in our city is spiralling.” (Ottawa Food bank, 2024b, p.5)

“Ninety-eight per cent of food bank funding comes from community donations, while the City of Ottawa contributes less than two per cent. Meanwhile, food insecurity has reached a crisis point.” (Wilson, 2024)

“The community has shown immense generosity, providing 98% of our funding, but this is not a sustainable solution. Less than 2% of our funding comes from the government, and this disparity is simply untenable.” (Ottawa Food bank, 2024b, p.3)

“In 2024, almost 40 per cent of Ottawa’s food banks reported turning people away due to capacity issues.” (Wilson, 2024)

Situation in Hamilton

“Food banks in Hamilton and across the province are seeing a surge in demand as residents deal with unaffordable housing prices, inflation and unstable employment.” (Beattie, 2023)

“Food bank users in Hamilton, according to a study by researchers at McMaster University, are struggling significantly more than most low-income residents. The researchers said about one-third of all low-income households in Hamilton use a food bank at least once a year and those households are commonly ones with children.” (Brown, 2021) “Study found gross income for households using food banks was 40-60% lower than average low-income family.” (Brown, 2021)

Situation in Kitchener-Cambridge-Waterloo

“The Food Bank of Waterloo Region has seen a ‘drastic increase’ in people needing its services, CEO Kim Wilhelm says.” “Number of new households accessing feed support for the first time increased 12 per cent from the previous year (8,469 households compared to 7,549 in 2022 to 2023). Visits to food hamper programs increased by 24 per cent, from 450,387 to 558,545. 11 per cent of households that reported an income source said at least one person in the family was employed, but they ‘lacked sufficient income to afford food.’ 19 per cent of households reported receiving Ontario Works or Ontario Disability Support Program payments.” (Bueckert and Mahler, 2024)

“In Waterloo Region right now, one in 10 households is accessing food assistance,’ she [CEO Kim Wilhelm] said. ‘Last year, it was one in 14 and two years ago, one in 20 households.’ While many have wondered if the influx of international students is driving up the numbers, local data shows that’s not the case. ‘Students as a whole in Waterloo Region make up less than five per cent of the participants who are accessing food assistance,’ Wilhelm explained.” (Turcotte, 2024)

Situation in London

“In 2023, 1 in 4 households in Middlesex-London were food insecure (25.1%, CI 21.8-28.4%). The rate was higher than in Ontario and the Peer Group comparator (i.e., mainly urban centres with moderate population density); however, this was not a statistically significant difference. The 2023 rate represents a statistically significant increase from 2022; and the highest rate reported in Middlesex-London since the Canadian Income Survey started measuring food insecurity in 2019. In 2022, 1 in 6 households in Middlesex-London were food insecure (17.5%, CI 14.1-20.9%). Local food insecurity rates are not yet available for 2024. Nearly 44,000 more Middlesex-London residents lived in food insecure households in 2023 as compared to 2022. An estimated 151,477 residents lived in food insecure households in Middlesex-London in 2023, as compared to 107,835 residents in 2022.” (Alexander, 2024, p.2)

“Karen McDade of the St. Thomas Elgin Food bank has noticed sharp increases in the number of visits in recent years. Something McDade sees fueling the St. Thomas visits is an increase from people — including those with steady jobs —who haven't used food banks before.” “Glen Pearson, co-director of the London Food Bank, said visits often ramp up in the fall. In an average year, the London Food Bank feeds about 6,000 families. ‘There's a large number of new people that have not come to food banks before,’ he said.” “Karen McDade of the St. Thomas Elgin Food bank has noticed sharp increases in the number of visits in recent years.” (Lupton, 2024)

Situation in St. Catharines-Niagara

“Over 75,000 individuals in Niagara are experiencing food insecurity. 8 in 10 food insecure families have incomes above the poverty line. 1 in 3 post-secondary students in Canada are food-insecure.” (United Way Niagara, 2024)

“There is an alarming growth in the number of residents in Niagara who are relying on food banks and food programs and this trend does not show any signs of slowing down.” (Heritz, 2024, p.1) “The Niagara Food Security Network (NFSN 2024) published a report on the lived experiences of mostly women in Niagara who experience food insecurity, once they’ve spent their money paying rent and bills.” (Heritz, 2024, p.2)

Burlington Food Bank (Hamilton CMA)

“The Burlington Food Bank was formed in 1991 when several small community Churches decided to work together and pool resources to help the most vulnerable in our community. Our organization has grown significantly since that time and now provides close to 1,750 lbs of food directly to Burlington residents that need our assistance each day.

Our role in the community is to collect, purchase, grow, and distribute food directly to families in Burlington who need a little help. A client can visit our food bank once every three weeks and we provide between seven and ten days’ worth of food and hygiene products. We also provide baby items, such as diapers, formula and baby food to new parents.” (Burlington Food Bank, 2025)

Vision

1. Our Food Bank is committed to feeding the hungry in our community. Our clients are treated with dignity & respect. We welcome all clients without judgement.
2. Our Food Bank is about food distribution. We collect, sort and distribute food to our clients and outreach food programs.
3. Donations from our financial supporters allow us to purchase perishable food items like milk, meat, eggs, etc. Our food donors allow us to feed the hungry.
4. Our valued partners provide the Food Bank with nutritious food and hygiene products to help meet our client needs.
5. Our Food bank relies on the dedicated staff and volunteers to help receive food, inspect for expiry dates, sort and distribute to our clients.
6. Our strategic board provides direction to the staff at the Food Bank; this includes yearly planning to enhance the client experience.” (Burlington Food Bank, 2020)

Mission

“To provide nutritious food to the hungry of our community in a dignified and timely manner.” (Burlington Food Bank, 2020)

The Food Bank of Waterloo Region (Kitchener-Cambridge-Waterloo CMA)

“Founded in 1984, The Food Bank of Waterloo Region (The Food Bank) was the first organization of its kind in Ontario dedicated to providing emergency food.

The Food Bank of Waterloo Region functions as a distribution centre, so we don’t give out food directly from our location. Instead, we work with the Cambridge Food Bank to lead the Community Food Assistance Network. This means we acquire essential food items, fulfill orders, and distribute fresh, frozen, and non-perishable food to partner organizations across Waterloo region.” (The Food Bank of Waterloo Region, 2025)

“The Network consists of 54 organizations and 132 food assistance programs. Helping neighbours in need is a community effort. Between July 1, 2022 and June 30, 2023, food and fund drives provided 1,030,043 meals to people and families in need across Waterloo region.” (The Food Bank of Waterloo Region, 2023)

Vision

“A Waterloo region where no one experiences hunger.” (The Food Bank of Waterloo Region, 2024)

Mission

“Through community partnerships, we obtain and distribute emergency food from our neighbours for our neighbours.” (The Food Bank of Waterloo Region, 2024)
