

Academic unit: Humanities
Category of appointment: Two Year Term
Field of specialization: Greek and Roman Studies
Rank/Position title: Instructor
Start date: July 1, 2017
Applications will be reviewed starting: May 12 and continue until the position is filled

About the position:

The Greek and Roman Studies program at Carleton University invites applications for a two-year appointment at the rank of Instructor in an area of Roman Studies to begin July 1, 2017.

Qualifications:

We seek an outstanding scholar with a PhD in Classics and demonstrable excellence in teaching. The area of specialization is open, but preference may be given to candidates who engage with some facet of Roman social history. The successful candidate will be expected to teach a 3.5 full-course equivalent teaching load. Teaching responsibilities will include Latin and a wide range of courses in Roman civilization and material culture, and possibly the development of a course in medical/scientific terminology; however, the appointee will also have the opportunity to develop an advanced topic course in his or her area of expertise.

About the academic unit:

Greek and Roman Studies is housed in the College of the Humanities together with the Bachelor of Humanities program and the program in Religion. GRS offers a B.A. and minors in Greek and Roman Studies and Archaeology. The program is home to five faculty members and 65 majors. For more information on the program and the College, please see <https://carleton.ca/chum/>

Application instructions:

A letter of application, a complete CV, a statement of teaching philosophy, and evidence of excellence in teaching should be sent electronically as one single PDF file to:

Dr. Shane Hawkins
Director of the College of the Humanities
shane.hawkins@carleton.ca

In addition, candidates should arrange for three letters of reference to be sent under separate cover. Candidates should be available for either on-campus or Skype-interviews. Applications will be reviewed starting May 12 and continue until the position is filled.

Please indicate in your application if you are a Canadian citizen or permanent resident of Canada.

About Carleton University

Join our intellectual and collaborative community of scholars. Carleton University is a dynamic and innovative research and teaching institution with a nationally and internationally reputation as a leader in collaborative teaching and learning, research and governance. With over 28,000 students, 850 academic faculty, and 2,000 staff and more than 100 programs of study, we encourage creative risk-taking enabling minds to connect, discover and generate transformative knowledge. Located in Ottawa, Ontario, Canada's capital city has a population of almost one million and reflects the country's bilingual and multicultural character. Carleton's location in the nation's capital provides many opportunities for scholarship and research with groups and institutions that reflect the diversity of the country. To learn more about our University and the City of Ottawa, please visit www.carleton.ca/provost.

Carleton University is strongly committed to fostering diversity within its community as a source of excellence, cultural enrichment, and social strength. We welcome those who would contribute to the further diversification of our University including, but not limited to: women; visible minorities; First Nations, Inuit and Métis peoples; persons with disabilities; and persons of any sexual orientation or gender identity and expressions.

Applicants selected for an interview are asked to contact the Chair of the Search Committee as soon as possible to discuss any accommodation requirements. Arrangements will be made in a timely manner.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority. All positions are subject to budgetary approval.