Applications due May 1st, 2024

Important Note: Permission for the Stream is reviewed each year. If you do not complete the required courses during the term you were approved for, the Stream may be removed from your record. Should you wish to add the Stream in the future, you may reapply.

* A special note for students in the Health, and the Social and Personality concentrations. If you declare both a concentration in health psychology and this stream, then you cannot count 3302 or 3604 towards your concentration. You will have to select another 1.0 credit for the concentration among the listed choices. If you declare both a concentration in social/personality psychology and this stream, then you cannot count 3302 towards your concentration. You will have to select another 0.5 credit for the concentration among listed choices.
