COURSE DESCRIPTION/INSTRUCTOR'S STATEMENT

Note: This section is reserved for Bachelor of Commerce students.

My name is Matthew Sorley and I'm an Instructor with the Department of Psychology. I'm looking forward to working with you and exploring our mutual interest in what makes people tick. Psychology is the scientific study of our thoughts, feelings, and behaviours. In PSYC 1002, a focus is placed on how these are influenced by our development, personality, and various social factors. You'll learn how we cope with stress, understand psychological disorders, consider treatment options, and promote mental health. An emphasis will be placed on applying the material to specific situations, including those that are personally meaningful.

Overall, this course will help you to apply psychological principles to everyday situations and to be critical in the attempt. You will develop a deeper understanding of yourself and others. Psychology is a dynamic and fascinating science...and we're going to have some fun with it!

This section of the course is reserved for Bachelor of Commerce majors. This means that compared with other sections of the course, there will be more opportunities to consider how psychology and the various course ideas can be applied in the world of business.

EVALUATION

Learning will be assessed using a variety of quizzes and participation in psychological research. An emphasis will be placed on your ability to think about and work with the material, rather than just memorize information.
