

PSYC 2001 D : INTRODUCTION TO RESEARCH METHODS IN PSYCHOLOGY

Instructor	Jordan Richard Schoenherr
Term	Fall 2024
Email Address	Jordan.Schoenherr@carleton.ca
Office Location	Zoom
Office Hours	TBD

COURSE DESCRIPTION/INSTRUCTORS STATEMENT

Intended for students interested in performing psychological research. A review and analysis of research methodologies employed within contemporary psychology. Topics covered include research designs (experimental, quasi-experimental) and techniques (observations, surveys), basic descriptive statistics, and how to interpret and report research findings.

EVALUATION

Description	% of grade	Due date(s) and deadlines
Experimental Write-Up	12%	Please see Class Schedule
Weekly Quizzes
Multiple-choice questions	37%	Please see Class Schedule
Final Exam
Multiple-choice questions	51%	TBA
Bonus Marks		Consult SONA:
Participation in psychology experiments.	Up to 4%	SONA participation requires that you sign-up and attend session in a laboratory or online.
WHO Emerging Respiratory Viruses (COVID-19) Certification	2%	Students have until the end of the course

TEXT

Gravetter, F. J. & Forzano, L. B. Research Methods for the Behavioral Sciences, 6th Edition.
Thompson/Wadsworth.