

PSYC 3801 B : ORGANIZATIONAL PSYCHOLOGY II

Instructor	Chelsie Smith
Term	Winter 2027
Course Delivery	Online, synchronous, no campus presence required
Email Address	chelsiesmith@cunet.carleton.ca
Office Hours	TBA

COURSE DESCRIPTION/INSTRUCTOR'S STATEMENT

This course builds on the material covered in Organizational Psychology I (PSYC 2801), and is designed to provide students with a depth of knowledge in both classic (e.g., job attitudes, workplace socialization) and modern (e.g., career sustainability, hybrid work arrangements) workplace issues. The key aim of this course will be to equip students with the knowledge and skills required to identify and contribute to thriving workplaces.

The course will be offered online and will consist of synchronous class meetings, online quizzes, written reflection(s), and online exams.

EVALUATION (SUBJECT TO CHANGE)

A combination of in-class attendance, online quizzes, written reflection(s), and online examinations (midterm and final) will form the bulk of the evaluation for this class.

TEXT

No textbook is required. Weekly readings will be provided through Brightspace and the Carleton University library.