Course Description

This course examines the life of Muhammad as it is presented in biographical and historical Muslim writings. Students will also be introduced to the critical methods used in contemporary academic scholarship to investigate and reconstruct Muhammad’s life. Issues to be studied include: Muhammad’s teachings, the relationship between Muhammad’s life and the Quran, Muslim concepts of prophecy, Muhammad’s religious significance for Muslims, and common Western European perceptions of Muhammad’s life, past and present.

NOTE: The purpose of this course is not confessional—it will not attempt to persuade you to adopt or reject a particular religious viewpoint. This course presupposes that students accept that Muhammad’s life will be studied using critical methods which are employed in a modern research university when examining any historical figure. All those taking this course are required to study historical-critical methods, as well as to critically examine a selection of the various ways that Muhammad has been presented historically—both by Muslims of different sectarian and theological persuasions, as well as by indifferent or hostile Others.

Course Goals

By the end of this course, you should:
- Be familiar with traditional Muslim retellings of Muhammad’s life
- Possess a basic grasp of the issues of concern in contemporary historical-critical attempts to reconstruct Muhammad’s life
- Have an understanding of the historical development of Muhammad’s theological significance for Muslims
- Have further refined your skills of critical reading, information retrieval and evaluation, and writing.

Course Textbooks

The following textbooks are required:

4 – Course pack of readings (CP)

- All of these items, including the course pack, can be purchased at Octopus Books (116 Third Ave., near the intersection of Third and Bank): http://octopusbooks.org/
- Please note that several additional required readings for this course are available online. The links are posted on WebCT.

Course Requirements

Your final grade will be determined by the following:
- Regular attendance and informed participation—15%
- Midterm exam—25%
- Outline of essay and annotated bibliography—10%
- Research essay—20%
- Final Exam—30%

NOTE: Both the readings and the lectures are essential components of this course. The readings cannot substitute for the lectures—or vice versa. It is expected that all students will come to class regularly, having already done the readings.

Be aware that the readings for this course are heavy. Before signing up for this course, it is important to consider whether or not you will be able to make the time commitment required. The grade for attendance will be determined primarily by random pop quizzes, as well as by informed participation in class discussion. Any pop quizzes missed cannot be made up at a later date, or substituted for in any other way.

COURSE EXPECTATIONS AND POLICIES

Expectations
These are my expectations for you this semester:
• Come to class on time
• Attend every class (if a medical problem or emergency results in you missing more than three classes, contact me)
• Do the readings well before coming to class
• Join in class discussion and listen respectfully to others
• Think, read and write critically, considering as many sides of any question as possible

Exams
The mid-term and final exams will be made up of short-answer (i.e. define and explain the significance of…) and essay questions.
Please note that there will be no make-up examination for the midterm. If you must miss the midterm, you must choose whether to add the 25% value of this exam to your final exam, or to your research paper. In order to qualify for either of these options, you must (1) provide adequate documentation which shows why you missed the midterm, and (2) fill out a form (available in my office) asking to have the normal grade distribution changed.
Note also that in order to pass this course, you must pass the final exam. This stipulation stands regardless of the quality of your work during the term.

The research essay
This assignment requires you to research and write an essay which deals directly with a topic related to the course materials.
The essay (approx. 15 pages) is a research paper. Standard documentation and bibliographical formats much be used. No internet sources whatsoever are acceptable. Paper topics must be approved by the professor before you proceed. Each student will submit the title of the paper, along with an outline, and an annotated bibliography by the deadlines outlined in the syllabus. Failure to meet these deadlines will result in your paper not being accepted.

More detailed instructions about the essay will be provided in class.
• Ensure that you know what plagiarism is, and how to avoid it. For details, see: http://www2.carleton.ca/studentaffairs/academic-integrity/
  If you are in any doubt about what constitutes plagiarism, ask.

• Assignments are due in hard copy, at the beginning of class, on Dec. 1. Late papers will be penalized by the deduction of 2% per day or partial day (including weekends), unless an extension has been arranged before the due date. Retroactive extensions will be granted only according to the rules of the university—personal and family emergencies (documentation must be provided). Extensions will not be granted because of exam or essay conflicts, jobs, busy schedules, etc.

• Late papers can be submitted to me in my office, or put in the drop box at the Religion and Classics Department (a large locked wooden box on the wall outside 2A39 Paterson Hall). Do not put them under my (or anyone else’s) door; the cleaning staff may pick them up and throw them out.

• Papers that do not follow the directions outlined above and given in class (in content, methodology, appearance, length) may be returned ungraded for resubmission. In such a case, late penalties will accrue from the due date, regardless of when the problem was discovered.

• Be sure to keep a hard copy of your paper, and do a computer/disk back-up as well. Please submit the original for marking, not a photo-copy.

• If you have never written a paper like this before, you are strongly urged to contact the Student Academic Success Centre: http://www2.carleton.ca/sasc/writing-tutorial-service/writing-resources/

Email communication

Please be aware that in order to ensure compliance with the federal privacy act known as FIPPA, Carleton communications policy states that faculty may only communicate with students through their Carleton Connect accounts.
REGULATIONS COMMON TO ALL HUMANITIES COURSES

COPIES OF WRITTEN WORK SUBMITTED
Always retain for yourself a copy of all essays, term papers, written assignments or take-home tests submitted in your courses.

PLAGIARISM
The University Senate defines plagiarism as “presenting, whether intentional or not, the ideas, expression of ideas or work of others as one’s own.” This can include:

- reproducing or paraphrasing portions of someone else’s published or unpublished material, regardless of the source, and presenting these as one’s own without proper citation or reference to the original source;
- submitting a take-home examination, essay, laboratory report or other assignment written, in whole or in part, by someone else;
- using ideas or direct, verbatim quotations, or paraphrased material, concepts, or ideas without appropriate acknowledgment in any academic assignment;
- using another’s data or research findings;
- failing to acknowledge sources through the use of proper citations when using another’s works and/or failing to use quotation marks;
- handing in “substantially the same piece of work for academic credit more than once without prior written permission of the course instructor in which the submission occurs.”

Plagiarism is a serious offence which cannot be resolved directly with the course’s instructor. The Associate Deans of the Faculty conduct a rigorous investigation, including an interview with the student, when an instructor suspects a piece of work has been plagiarized. Penalties are not trivial. They can include a final grade of “F” for the course.

This supporting documentation must specify the date of onset of the illness, the degree of incapacitation, and the expected date of recovery.

If you are applying for a deferral for reasons other than personal illness, please contact the Registrar’s Office directly for information on other forms of documentation that we accept. Deferrals of assignments must be supported by confirmation of the assignment due date, for example a copy of the course outline specifying the due date and any documented extensions from the course instructor.
