Course Description

Calendar: A study of a period or theme in the art and archaeology of Ancient Greece and Rome. Topics may vary from year to year.

Summer 2010 Course: This session, the course is a comparative study of the religious visual culture and archaeological remains found in and around Rome and selected parts of its empire. The historical period covered is roughly 1st C BCE-500 CE. Based on the art and monuments, a variety of religions will be discussed including Roman civic and domestic religions, Mithraism, the cult of Isis, early Judaism and early Christianity.

Course Evaluation: The final grade of this course is based on the following:
   (a) Class participation* (25%)
   (b) Annotated Bibliography (40%)
   (c) Midterm Exam  (35%)
* This mark requires active participation in small group discussion for one half/hour in each class to process course material presented in the lecture and to raise related questions, after which time attendance and a written summary of the group discussion will be submitted to the professor; active individual participation in the course on-line discussion board posting a total of four posts (between 100-150 words) over the duration of the course; and regular class attendance.
 Due no later than August 11, 2010. A handout on the assignment will be given out in the first week of classes. After August 11th, late papers will be fined by a fraction of a grade (i.e., A to A-) for each day unless a medical certificate (or its equivalent) is provided.
 July 28, 2010. Specifics of the midterm will be discussed in class.

COPIES OF WRITTEN WORK SUBMITTED
Always retain for yourself a copy of all essays, term papers, written assignments or take-home tests submitted in your courses.

PLAGIARISM
The University Senate defines plagiarism as “presenting, whether intentional or not, the ideas, expression of ideas or work of others as one’s own.” This can include:

- reproducing or paraphrasing portions of someone else’s published or unpublished material, regardless of the source, and presenting these as one’s own without proper citation or reference to the original source;
- submitting a take-home examination, essay, laboratory report or other assignment written, in whole or in part, by someone else;
- using ideas or direct, verbatim quotations, or paraphrased material, concepts, or ideas without appropriate acknowledgment in any academic assignment;
- using another’s data or research findings;
- failing to acknowledge sources through the use of proper citations when using another’s works and/or failing to use quotation marks;
- handing in “substantially the same piece of work for academic credit more than once without prior written permission of the course instructor in which the submission occurs.”

Plagiarism is a serious offence which cannot be resolved directly with the course’s instructor. The Associate Deans of the Faculty conduct a rigorous investigation, including an interview with the student, when an instructor suspects a piece of work has been plagiarized. Penalties are not trivial. They range from a mark of zero for the plagiarized assignment or take-home tests submitted in your courses.
