THEORY AND METHOD SEMINAR
Professor Johannes C. Wolfart
Office: Office: 2A62 Paterson Hall; Telephone: x2932; email:johannes_wolfart@carleton.ca

COURSE OBJECTIVES
The seminar has as its mandate “examination of selected theoretical and methodological models used in the interpretation of religious data” (Carleton Undergraduate Calendar). The seminar is, with the exception of RELI 1730 “Interpretations of Religion,” the only such course offered undergraduates at Carleton. By faculty consensus it must survey a very broad selection of such models, both “classical” and “contemporary.” In keeping with developments in the academic study of religion in the last two decades (roughly), emphasis will be on theoretical questions, though these are frequently entwined with methodological issues. This is NOT, however, a “methods” course in the technical sense. In keeping with the rich traditions of the academic seminar, the presentation of material by the instructor of record/seminar leader will be limited in favour of participation of all members of the seminar (on which, more below). Finally, wherever possible, the seminar will explore the contrasting positions and debates that are inevitably associated with any theory or methodology in the world of scholarship.

This course presupposes your acceptance of the principles of the modern research university, in particular: 1) that a seminar differs fundamentally from a lecture course; 2) that the academic study of religion is not the same thing as confessional theology. Your understanding of these will undoubtedly develop further during this course.

EVALUATION
1) Seminar participation: 20%. To receive credit for the course members of the seminar must attend at least 9 of the 12 substantive meetings of the seminar (i.e., if you miss too many meetings, you cannot receive credit for the course!). Just being there isn’t enough, however. To receive full participation marks you must make a contribution to the discussion on a regular basis.
2) Reading responses: 30%. During the term each member of the seminar must submit a written response of no more than 500 words on any six of the assigned readings (you may contrast two readings in a single response, but that only counts as one response). These responses are due at the beginning of class on the day that a particular reading is scheduled for consideration by the seminar (i.e. I will not accept after-the-fact response pieces; if you are contrasting two readings, one may have already come up for discussion). Response pieces may be either type-written or hand-written, but they must be double-spaced and single-sided. They must be composed in a suitable prose style. Please do not include a cover sheet. Please do include your full name at the top of the first page, along with a suitable title and the date of submission. Please also include a word count at the end of your response. Please keep a copy of your submissions, just in case…
3) Final essay: 50%. This essay of no more than 5000 words will be due on 7 December. A detailed brief will be distributed separately and in due course. Deadline extensions will be granted no later than one week in advance of the deadline, and only for very good reason. Exceptions to this rule will be made only in emergencies. Late work will be assessed a penalty of 2 marks per day or partial day, without exception.

Certainly, it is my aim as a teacher to get to know you as individuals, to recognize your individual strengths and weaknesses, and to foster individual intellectual development. At the same time, however, I am obliged to treat individuals equally in certain key respects. Therefore, as a marker I cannot take into consideration anything other than your actual performance on the items above.
POLICY ON ATTENDANCE
Not only is it common practice to evaluate participation in discussion and contribution to a seminar, it is also customary that habitual non-attendance be considered unacceptable performance. Such non-attendance entails a failure to contribute that is simply un-collegial. Moreover, since it is impossible to make up a missed seminar, a member who does not attend regularly cannot really be said to have taken the course. Therefore, any member who is absent from more than 3 substantive meetings of the seminar will not receive course credit. In other words, all members of the seminar must be present for three quarters of all meetings of the seminar.

READINGS
All readings are available to seminar members through MacOdrum Library, either electronically or via the reserve system. Please note that readings are a prerequisite for seminar participation. Your ability to contribute effectively will depend on you keeping up with the reading. Furthermore, all members of the seminar are encouraged to “read around” the seminar topics as much as possible, and to share their scholarship with the seminar. The preparation of an essay proposal and term essay will also undoubtedly involve such further reading.

OFFICE HOURS
Office hours will be held Tuesdays from 10:00-12:00.

E-MAIL COMMUNICATION
Carleton communications policy states that faculty must conduct email communications with students only through their Carleton accounts. Please be advised, further, that students can normally expect up to a 24hour turn-around time on e-mail communication, especially during high volume times (i.e. before examinations, at essay time, etc.).

Academic Integrity at Carleton

Plagiarism is presenting, whether intentionally or not, the ideas, expression of ideas, or work of others as one’s own. Plagiarism includes reproducing or paraphrasing portions of someone else’s published or unpublished material, regardless of the source, and presenting these as one’s own without proper citation or reference to the original source. Examples of sources from which the ideas, expressions of ideas or works of others may be drawn from include but are not limited to: books, articles, papers, literary compositions and phrases, performance compositions, chemical compounds, art works, laboratory reports, research results, calculations and the results of calculations, diagrams, constructions, computer reports, computer code/software, and material on the internet. More information can be found on https://carleton.ca/registrar/academic-integrity/#AIatCU.

Academic Accommodation Policy

Academic Accommodation
You may need special arrangements to meet your academic obligations during the term. For an accommodation request the processes are as follows:

Pregnancy obligation: write to the instructor with any requests for academic accommodation during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist. For more details see the Student Guide.

Religious obligation: write to the instructor with any requests for academic accommodation during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist. For more details see the Student Guide.

Academic Accommodations for Students with Disabilities: The Paul Menton Centre for Students with Disabilities (PMC) provides services to students with Learning Disabilities (LD), psychiatric/mental health disabilities, Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD), Autism Spectrum Disorders (ASD), chronic medical conditions, and impairments in mobility, hearing, and vision. If you have a disability requiring academic accommodations in this course, please contact PMC at 613-520-6608 or pmc@carleton.ca for a formal evaluation. If you are already registered with the PMC, contact your PMC coordinator to send me your Letter of Accommodation at the beginning of the term, and no later than two weeks before the first in-class scheduled test or exam requiring accommodation (if applicable). After requesting accommodation from PMC, meet with me to ensure accommodation arrangements are made. Please consult the PMC website for the deadline to request accommodations for the formally-scheduled exam (if applicable).

Grading System at Carleton University

Standing in a course is determined by the course instructor, subject to the approval of the faculty Dean. Standing in courses will be shown by alphabetical grades. The system of grades used, with corresponding grade points and the percentage conversion is below. Grade points indicated are for courses with 1.0 credit value. Where the course credit is greater or less than one credit, the grade points are adjusted proportionately.

Course Sharing Websites and Copyright

Classroom teaching and learning activities, including lectures, discussions, presentations, etc., by both instructors and students, are copy protected and remain the intellectual property of their respective author(s). All course materials, including PowerPoint presentations, outlines, and other materials, are also protected by copyright and remain the intellectual property of their respective author(s).

Students registered in the course may take notes and make copies of course materials for their own educational use only. Students are not permitted to reproduce or distribute lecture notes and course materials publicly for commercial or non-commercial purposes without express written consent from the copyright holder(s).

Statement on Class Conduct

The Carleton University Human Rights Policies and Procedures affirm that all members of the University community share a responsibility to:

• promote equity and fairness,
• respect and value diversity,
• prevent discrimination and harassment, and preserve the freedom of its members to carry out responsibly their scholarly work without threat of interference.
Deferred Term Work

In some situations, students are unable to complete term work because of illness or other circumstances beyond their control, which forces them to delay submission of the work.

Students who claim illness, injury or other extraordinary circumstances beyond their control as a reason for missed term work are held responsible for immediately informing the instructor concerned and for making alternate arrangements with the instructor and in all cases this must occur no later than three (3.0) working days after the term work was due.

The alternate arrangement must be made before the last day of classes in the term as published in the academic schedule. Normally, any deferred term work will be completed by the last day of term. More information is available in the calendar.

Deferred Exams

Students who do not write/attend a final examination because of illness of other circumstances beyond their control may apply to write a deferred examination.

1. be made in writing to the Registrar's Office no later than three working days after the original final examination or the due date of the take-home examination; and

2. be fully supported by appropriate documentation and in cases of illness by a medical certificate dated no later than one working day after the examination or by appropriate documents in other cases. Medical documents must specify the date of the onset of the illness, the (expected) date of recovery, and the extent to which the student was/is incapacitated during the time of the examination. The University's preferred medical form can be found at the Registrar's Office [forms and fees page](https://example.com/

The granting of a deferral also requires that the student has performed satisfactorily in the course according to the evaluation scheme established in the Course Outline, excluding the final examination for which deferral privileges are requested. Reasons for denial of a deferral may include, among other conditions, a failure to (i) achieve a minimum score in the course before the final examination; (ii) attend a minimum number of classes; (iii) successfully complete a specific task (e.g. term paper, critical report, group project, computer or other assignment); (iv) complete laboratory work; (v) successfully complete one or more midterms; or (vi) meet other reasonable conditions of successful performance.

More information can be found in the calendar.
Any questions related to deferring a Final Exam or Final Assignment/Take Home Examination should be directed to: Registrar’s Office

Withdrawal From Courses
Withdrawn. No academic credit, no impact on the CGPA.

NEW FALL 2017: WDN is a permanent notation that appears on the official transcript for students who withdraw after the full fee adjustment date in each term. Students may withdraw on or before the last day of classes.
