Course Description:

South Asia has emerged as a key global player today and is one of the most dynamic regions in the world, in terms of its demographics, economics, and cultural institutions. With an interdisciplinary approach, this course introduces the students to the history, society, politics, religion, as well as various literary and popular cultural forms of contemporary South Asia.

- Recognize the intricacies of regional politics among the various nation states in the region, including issues of identity based on ethnic, linguistic, and religious differences.

- Gain insight into the social dynamics of caste and gender in contemporary South Asia, as well as movements for social change.

- Analyze the syncretic antecedents of South Asian religions and investigate the roots of divisive communal politics in recent decades.

- Identify and analyze various aspects of literary and popular cultural forms of contemporary South Asia.

- Improve their academic writing skills through the development of a critical perspective as appropriate for a first year level FASS (Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences) class.
Required Textbooks:

[Note: The textbooks will be available at Carleton University Bookstore]

In addition, we shall study a small selection of poetry, memoirs, and audio-visual material (to be uploaded on CuLearn or to be screened during class hours).

Course Evaluation:

Attendance/Participation: 15%
You will be graded in terms of preparedness for the class as well as the level of participation in class discussions.

You are expected to attend all classes, having read and reflected upon the material according the syllabus.

[NOTE: Absence from more than 5 classes per term may result in not being allowed to sit in exams or to hand in assignments.]

Weekly News Journal: 25%
Every week you will post a journal entry on a news media story sourced from on-line South Asian newspaper sites. Each journal entry should be between 200-300 words and the first entry will be due during the third week of classes. More details, including a suggested list of newspaper websites, will be provided during the first class.

Midterm: 20%

The midterm will be held in class during regular class hours. The students will be tested on their overall knowledge and understanding of the material covered up to that point. The format will be decided in consultation with the class.

Take-Home Assignment: 15%

From a list of topics handed out, you will need to submit an essay, 2-3 pages long (12 size font, 1.5 spacing) on a theme/topic/issue discussed in class.
Final Exam: 25%

The final exam will take place during the formal examination period at the end of the term. It will evaluate the students’ understanding and retention of the course material including class lectures and discussions. The format will be a combination of short and long answer type questions. The students will be able to choose from a list of questions within each of the two sections (short and long).

Course Policies

-- All assignments are mandatory and class tests need to be written on the dates specified. If you are unable to make it to class on the day of an in-class assignment, please send me an e. mail in advance as soon as you can. You will need to provide a doctor’s note (if you are ill) or other relevant documentation.

-- In the case of late submission of an assignment, there will be a penalty of 5% of the total mark per day unless there is a pressing and well-documented reason and you have informed me beforehand.

-- All assignments (take-home, essays and term papers) need to be handed in class. Please do not drop in the department drop-box or slip it under my door. If one of your assignments is lost, misplaced, or not received by the instructor, you are responsible for having a backup copy that can be submitted immediately upon request.

Classroom Etiquette:

-- To ensure active participation and lively discussion in class, I do not recommend the use of laptops in class. However, if you wish to type your notes on the computer, you may do so using a word-processing software (e.g. MS Word). But absolutely no internet browsing/e. mail checking/social-networking in class. All computers need to be closed during in-class assignments/tests. Cell-phones need to be put away in silent mode during class hours.

-- Please come to class on time and be prepared to stay for the entire class. Coming late or leaving early is highly disruptive and disrespectful towards your professor and fellow students. If you arrive late due to unforeseen circumstances, please minimize the disturbance by sitting in a seat close to the door. If you leave early (unless there is a valid reason and you have informed me in advance, e.g. doctor’s appointment), you will be marked absent for the day even if you have signed the attendance sheet.

-- Please do not chat/whisper during a lecture, screening, or class discussions. It is unacceptable in a university setting.

-- Although it is expected that we shall discuss a wide variety of perspectives on the topics discussed in this class, we are also required to do so in a respectful manner. Racist, sexist, homophobic, or ableist comments are unacceptable. To this end, students must familiarize themselves with the regulations concerning conduct and academic standing as outlined in the Undergraduate Calendar: The Undergraduate Calendar can be accessed online at: http://www.carleton.ca/cuuc/

COPIES OF WRITTEN WORK SUBMITTED
Always retain for yourself a copy of all essays, term papers, written assignments or take-home tests submitted in your courses.

PLAGIARISM
The University Senate defines plagiarism as “presenting, whether intentional or not, the ideas, expression of ideas or work of others as one’s own.” This can include:

- reproducing or paraphrasing portions of someone else’s published or unpublished material, regardless of the source, and presenting these as one’s own without proper citation or reference to the original source;
- submitting a take-home examination, essay, laboratory report or other assignment written, in whole or in part, by someone else;
- using ideas or direct, verbatim quotations, or paraphrased material, concepts, or ideas without appropriate acknowledgment in any academic assignment;
- using another’s data or research findings;
- failing to acknowledge sources through the use of proper citations when using another’s works and/or failing to use quotation marks;
- handing in "substantially the same piece of work for academic credit more than once without prior written permission of the course instructor in which the submission occurs."

Plagiarism is a serious offence which cannot be resolved directly with the course’s instructor. The Associate Deans of the Faculty conduct a rigorous investigation, including an interview with the student, when an instructor suspects a piece of work has been plagiarized. Penalties are not trivial. They can include a final grade of “F” for the course.
