

Sprott Faculty – Statements of Candidacy:

1) Emily Gray

As current Director of the Master of Accounting program, I find myself needing to know more about how the university operates, and finding it useful to know individuals across various faculties. I recently also joined SCCASP and am enjoying the discussions, the people and the work. I believe I could bring more value to my current and future roles by serving on Senate.

I care deeply about our students and would like to serve them in a greater capacity by being involved in the decision making process at this level. Although I have more to learn as referenced above, my teaching and leadership positions at Carleton so far put me in a position to be able to contribute effectively to Senate discussions.

2) Rodney Nelson

I am honoured to put my name forward to serve as a member of Senate. I have been active in senate for many years in various committees. I currently Chair the Senate Committee on Undergraduate Student Awards and sit as a member of the Senate Academic Governance Committee (SAGC) and Senate Review Committee (SRC).

I am passionate about governance and sit on several boards including Scouts Canada, the Canadian Museum of History, and the War Museum. I also have a good knowledge of the Universities bicameral system from perspectives of having worked in both in FASS and Sprott. I am a Carleton graduate in both undergraduate and graduate work. I am also a proud Carleton historian, interested in our history and traditions.
