MOST IMPACTFUL PUBLICATIONS:

Altmetrics quantify the attention scholarly publications receive across news media, policy documents, and social platforms. In psychology, a score of 20 is considered above average. My top 12 publications exceed this threshold, reflecting that my research has substantial engagement from both scholarly and public sectors. Collectively, my scores demonstrate that my peer-reviewed publications have informed public understanding, contributed to evidence-based dialogue, and influenced policy on both national and international stages.

Altmetric Score	Title (First Author Only)	Journal (Year)
804	Långström et al. – Sexual offending runs in families	Int J Epidemiol (2015)
