

School of Linguistics and Language Studies

UNDERGRADUATE SPECIAL TOPICS COURSE IN LINGUISTICS

Fall 2015

LING 4009 A - Special Topic in Linguistics

Topic: Psycholinguistic Research Methods

Description: Introduction to experimental methodologies of current psycholinguistic studies. Topics include experimental designs and techniques, descriptive statistics, and interpreting and reporting research findings.

Prerequisites: Third or fourth year standing and LING 1001 or PSYC 2700, or permission of the instructor.

Instructor: Masako Hirotsu

Schedule: Go to Carleton Central

<http://central.carleton.ca/>