Course Description:
What constitutes a family? How has the definition of the family changed over time? Did industrialization initially weaken kin ties? What led to the rise of intensive motherhood? Why was the period following WWII characterized by revival of domesticity? Is cohabitation replacing marriage? How does separation/divorce shape childhood? Do men ‘mother’? Is there gender equality in contemporary Canadian families? What do studies of LGBTQ families tell us? How does social class shape the experiences of families and children? What has been the impact of colonization and residential schools on indigenous families? This a sample of the questions that this course explores. The course examines how the patterns and dynamics of family relations are shaped by economic and social structures. It discusses diverse family patterns across different historical periods and looks in depth at contemporary families in North America. The course also examines how family experiences are shaped by gender, social class, race, ethnicity and indigenous status.

Course Objectives:
- To acquire a solid understanding of the historical changes in the family
- To enhance knowledge of salient issues affecting and shaping contemporary families
- To become familiar with theoretical approaches used in the study of the family
- To gain sociological insights into inequalities within the family and between families
- To acquire experience in sociological research on the family
- To apply course concepts and ideas to contemporary issues particularly regarding family policies and debates concerning the family
• To strengthen writing and communication skills
• To sharpen critical and analytical skills in relation to academic texts, videos and mass media articles on the family

a) In-class participation (20%)
Students’ active participation in class discussions is important as it is key to enhancing oral skills and sharpening critical analysis. Students are expected to have read the required readings before class and be prepared to discuss them. Students who have read the required readings before class should sign the reading sign-up sheet on cuLearn ahead of each class to indicate that they read the required readings and are ready to discuss them in class. Students who sign up but are not present in class when the readings are discussed will get no credit. Note that class attendance is essential, and that it will be taken regularly.
Classes might include a writing period in which students (in groups of four) answer specific questions related to the lecture, readings and/or videos shown. Responses are to be handed in-class (one response per group). There is no make-up for missed in-class writings.

b) Midterm Exam (25%)
The mid-term exam is scheduled for May 27th. It covers all materials discussed in class including required readings, lectures and videos. Medical documentation is required for missed in-class exam. In such case, no make-up exam is given, and the final exam is re-weighed accordingly.
c) Course Paper (25%)
The course paper is expected to be about six double-spaced pages long and is due on June 5th. The instructions for the paper will be posted on cuLearn about two weeks before the due date and discussed in class. Students should put a hard copy in the sociology drop box (B750, Loeb Bldg.). Students should include their names, professor’s name (Dr. Rania Tfaily) and course number (SOCI 2043) on the cover page of the paper. It is the responsibility of the students to ensure that the course instructor received the assignment on time. Assignments not handed in on time are penalized at a rate of 5% per day in the absence of a valid and documented excuse.

d) Final Exam (30%)
The final exam covers all materials discussed in class including required readings, lectures and videos. The final exam is scheduled by the University.

Academic Regulations, Accommodations, Plagiarism:
University rules regarding registration, withdrawal, appealing marks, and most anything else you might need to know can be found on the university’s website, here: http://calendar.carleton.ca/undergrad/regulations/academicregulationsoftheuniversity/
You may need special arrangements to meet your academic obligations during the term. For an accommodation request, the processes are as follows:

Academic Accommodations for Students with Disabilities
The Paul Menton Centre for Students with Disabilities (PMC) provides services to students with Learning Disabilities (LD), psychiatric/mental health disabilities, Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD), Autism Spectrum Disorders (ASD), chronic medical conditions, and impairments in mobility, hearing, and vision. If you have a disability requiring academic accommodations in this course, please contact PMC at 613-520-6608 or pmc@carleton.ca for a formal evaluation. If you are already registered with the PMC, contact your PMC coordinator to send your Letter of Accommodation at the beginning of the term, and no later than two weeks before the first in-class scheduled test or exam requiring accommodation.
The deadline for contacting the Paul Menton Centre regarding accommodation for final exams for Early Summer 2019 exam period is May 31st.

For Religious Obligations:
Please contact your instructor with any requests for academic accommodation during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist. For more details, visit the Equity Services website: www.carleton.ca/equity/wp-content/uploads/Student-Guide-to-Academic-Accommodation.pdf

For Pregnancy:
Please contact your instructor with any requests for academic accommodation during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist. For more details, visit the Equity Services website: www.carleton.ca/equity/wp-content/uploads/Student-Guide-to-Academic-Accommodation.pdf
For Survivors of Sexual Violence
As a community, Carleton University is committed to maintaining a positive learning, working and living environment where sexual violence will not be tolerated, and is survivors are supported through academic accommodations as per Carleton's Sexual Violence Policy. For more information about the services available at the university and to obtain information about sexual violence and/or support, visit: www.carleton.ca/sexual-violence-support

Accommodation for Student Activities
Carleton University recognizes the substantial benefits, both to the individual student and for the university, that result from a student participating in activities beyond the classroom experience. Reasonable accommodation must be provided to students who compete or perform at the national or international level. Please contact your instructor with any requests for academic accommodation during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist. https://carleton.ca/senate/wp-content/uploads/Accommodation-for-Student-Activities-1.pdf

Plagiarism
Plagiarism is the passing off of someone else's work as your own and is a serious academic offence. For the details of what constitutes plagiarism, the potential penalties and the procedures refer to the section on Instructional Offences in the Undergraduate Calendar. Students are expected to familiarize themselves with and follow the Carleton University Student Academic Integrity Policy (See https://carleton.ca/registrar/academic-integrity/). The Policy is strictly enforced and is binding on all students. Academic dishonesty in any form will not be tolerated. Students who infringe the Policy may be subject to one of several penalties.

What are the Penalties for Plagiarism?
A student found to have plagiarized an assignment may be subject to one of several penalties including but not limited to: a grade of zero, a failure or a reduced grade for the piece of academic work; reduction of final grade in the course; completion of a remediation process; resubmission of academic work; withdrawal from course(s); suspension from a program of study; a letter of reprimand.

What are the Procedures?
All allegations of plagiarism are reported to the faculty of Dean of FASS and Management. Documentation is prepared by instructors and departmental chairs. The Dean writes to the student and the University Ombudsperson about the alleged plagiarism. The Dean reviews the allegation. If it is not resolved at this level then it is referred to a tribunal appointed by the Senate.
