Course Description: This course compares and critically evaluates different theoretical approaches to economic anthropology, and covers a number of important topics in the field. See the Class Schedule below for a more complete idea of what the course will cover.

Class Format: Seminar with some lecturing to set up next week’s topic. To maintain the seminar format, questions and comments are always welcome when I am lecturing. Readings are assigned for every class on the schedule below. For those classes, you will be expected (1) to have done the readings, (2) to have written a brief critical response to them which you will hand in to me at least an hour before class, and (3) to be ready for discussion. Usually, we will discuss readings in the first hour and three-quarters of each class, take a 10 minute break, and I will lecture for the remainder.

Protocol for Electronic Devices: Laptops and tablets are permitted in class exclusively for notetaking and other class-related activities. Use of portable devices for purposes extraneous to the class (e.g. texting, net-surfing, video-watching, game-playing) distracts others and degrades the classroom environment. It is therefore prohibited and reason for being asked to leave the classroom. Cell phones should be turned off at all times in class.

Texts and Readings: There is no textbook for this course but rather a number of photocopied readings placed on reserve in the library and also available electronically through cuLearn. As noted above, you are to complete each of these readings for the corresponding day on the class schedule below and be ready for discussion.

Requirements and Grading:
Reading Assignments: As mentioned above, you are expected to hand in a critical response to the readings for each class at least an hour before it begins. These short written assignments on course readings, and participation in class discussion, will count for 60% of your total grade. Critical responses should usually be 2-3 pages long, and consist of any observations or questions you might have about the reading. The point is not to summarize the reading, but rather to identify what you think is useful (or not) about it, how it relates to other ideas and realities you are aware of, and what you may not understand about them, and want to have clarified. I will not grade these responses for their literary merits: you can even write them in point form. What matters is to generate ideas and questions for discussion. Please submit them an hour before class begins so I can prepare responses to the points you raise. I will divide the total number of readings for the course into 3 groups (each corresponding approximately to one month), and give you a mark out of 20 for each, for a total of 60 marks.

Essay: This will comprise the remaining 40% of your grade and be approximately 5,000 words or 20 double-spaced pages long and is due on April 25. I will mark your essay according to the following criteria: (1) your ability to synthesize material from various sources (2) your ability to carry a critical and/or interpretive argument through your discussion of the material (3) your ability to write clearly. When paraphrasing ideas or information from an author, you must cite the work and page number where they can be found, for example: (Dalton 1961: 22). Do not break up and slightly rearrange an author’s words and present them as your own. If you wish to quote an author, then use quotation marks (for short phrases) or an indentation (for passages of three lines or longer), and then cite the work and page from which the quote is taken. These procedures are necessary to differentiate your writing from that of the authors you cite. Failure to observe any of these basic scholarly standards constitutes plagiarism, which is a serious offense (see below). I reserve the right to deduct marks for late assignments, but the final essay must be submitted on time. Please submit all work via email attachment unless we agree on another arrangement.

In accordance with the Carleton University Undergraduate Calendar Regulations, the letter grades assigned in this course will have the following percentage equivalents:

- A+ = 90-100
- A  = 85-89
- A - = 80-84
- B+ = 77-79
- B  = 73-76
- B - = 70-72
- C+ = 67-69
- C  = 63-66
- C - = 60-62
- D+ = 57-59
- D  = 53-56
- D - = 50-52
- F    = Below 50
- ABS = Student absent from final exam
- DEF = Deferred (See above)
- FND = (Failed, no Deferred) = Student could not pass the course even with 100% on final exam.

Academic Regulations, Accommodations, Plagiarism, Etc.
University rules regarding registration, withdrawal, appealing marks, and most anything else you might need to know can be found on the university’s website, here: https://calendar.carleton.ca/undergrad/regulations/academicregulationsoftheuniversity/

Academic Accommodations for Students with Disabilities
The Paul Menton Centre for Students with Disabilities (PMC) provides services to students with Learning Disabilities (LD), psychiatric/mental health disabilities, Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD), Autism Spectrum Disorders (ASD), chronic medical conditions, and impairments in mobility, hearing, and vision. If you have a disability requiring academic accommodations in this course, please contact PMC at 613-520-6608 or pmc@carleton.ca for a formal evaluation. If you are already registered with the PMC, contact your PMC coordinator to send me your Letter of Accommodation at the beginning of the term, and no later than two weeks before the first in-class scheduled test or exam requiring accommodation (if applicable). Requests made within two weeks will be reviewed on a case-by-case basis. After requesting accommodation from PMC, meet with me to ensure accommodation arrangements are made. Please consult the PMC website (www.carleton.ca/pmc) for the deadline to request accommodations for the formally-scheduled exam (if applicable). *The deadlines for contacting the Paul Menton Centre regarding accommodation for final exams is March 10, 2017.
For Religious Obligations:
Students requesting academic accommodation on the basis of religious obligation should make a formal, written request to their instructors for alternate dates and/or means of satisfying academic requirements. Such requests should be made during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist, but no later than two weeks before the compulsory event. Accommodation is to be worked out directly and on an individual basis between the student and the instructor(s) involved. Instructors will make accommodations in a way that avoids academic disadvantage to the student.
Students or instructors who have questions or want to confirm accommodation eligibility of a religious event or practice may refer to the Equity Services website for a list of holy days and Carleton's Academic Accommodation policies, or may contact an Equity Services Advisor in the Equity Services Department for assistance.

For Pregnancy:
Pregnant students requiring academic accommodations are encouraged to contact an Equity Advisor in Equity Services to complete a letter of accommodation. The student must then make an appointment to discuss her needs with the instructor at least two weeks prior to the first academic event in which it is anticipated the accommodation will be required.

Plagiarism
Plagiarism is the passing off of someone else's work as your own and is a serious academic offence. For the details of what constitutes plagiarism, the potential penalties and the procedures refer to the section on Instructional Offences in the Undergraduate Calendar.

What are the Penalties for Plagiarism?
A student found to have plagiarized an assignment may be subject to one of several penalties including: expulsion; suspension from all studies at Carleton; suspension from full-time studies; and/or a reprimand; a refusal of permission to continue or to register in a specific degree program; academic probation; award of an FNS, Fail, or an ABS.

What are the Procedures?
- All allegations of plagiarism are reported to the faculty of Dean of FASS and Management. Documentation is prepared by instructors and/or departmental chairs.
- The Dean writes to the student and the University Ombudsperson about the alleged plagiarism.
- The Dean reviews the allegation. If it is not resolved at this level then it is referred to a tribunal appointed by the Senate.

Plagiarism and cheating at the graduate level are viewed as being particularly serious and the sanctions imposed are accordingly severe. Students are expected to familiarize themselves with and follow the Carleton University Student Academic Integrity Policy (http://carleton.ca/registrar/academic-integrity/). The Policy is strictly enforced and is binding on all students. Plagiarism and cheating – presenting another’s ideas, arguments, words or images as your own, using unauthorized material, misrepresentation, fabricating or misrepresenting research data, unauthorized co-operation or collaboration or completing work for another student – weaken the quality of the graduate degree. Academic dishonesty in any form will not be tolerated. Students who infringe the Policy may be subject to one of several penalties including: expulsion; suspension from all studies at Carleton; suspension from full-time studies; a refusal of permission to continue or to register in a specific degree program; academic probation; or a grade of Failure in the course.

Assistance for Students:
Student Academic and Career Development Services: http://carleton.ca/sacds/
Writing Tutorial Services: https://carleton.ca/csas/writingservices/
Peer Assisted Study Sessions (PASS): https://carleton.ca/csas/group-support/pass/

Important Information:
- Student or professor materials created for this course (including presentations and posted notes, labs, case studies, assignments and exams) remain the intellectual property of the author(s). They are intended for personal use and may not be reproduced or redistributed without prior written consent of the author(s).
- Students must always retain a hard copy of all work that is submitted.
- All final grades are subject to the Dean’s approval.

Class Schedule and Readings:

Jan. 5
Course Introduction: Economics and Economic Anthropology

Jan. 12
The Discovery of Ceremonial Exchange

Jan. 19
Formalism vs. Substantivism

Jan. 26
From Substantivism to Marxism

Feb. 2
Marxism: Class and the Labour Theory of Value

Feb. 9 Cultural Approaches to Economic Anthropology

Feb. 16 Feminism: Gender/Kinship/Economy

Feb. 23 Reading Week: No Class

March 2 Spheres of Exchange and Money
March 9  Gifts, Debts, Persons and Things

March 16  Commodities and Moral Boundaries

March 23  Anthropological Political Economy

March 30  Ethnographies of Wage-Labour

April 6  Ethnographies of Finance