1 February 2019 @ 3–5 PM
DT 2017

SEEING LIKE A COP
A CRITICAL PHENOMENOLOGY OF WHITENESS AS PROPERTY

LISA GUENTHER
QUEEN’S UNIVERSITY

Drawing on Darren Wilson’s grand jury testimony, as well as critical literature on race and policing, this talk argues that a possessive investment in whiteness produces and intensifies security apparatuses that serve and protect some while exposing others to both mundane and spectacular forms of state violence.