DAY ONE – Friday, March 31st, 2017

9:00-9:10am: SAGSC Conference Committee Day One Introductory Remarks

9:15-9:45am: Welcoming & Opening Remarks

Dr. Danielle DiNovelli-Lang (Assistant Professor, Carleton University)
Department of Sociology and Anthropology

9:45-10:00am: Coffee Break

10:00-11:00am: PANEL #1 – (Im)Mobilities

Emma Bider, MA Candidate, Department of Sociology & Anthropology, Carleton University
Sounding the world: Imagining ontologies as mobile through sound and song

Alannah Alves, MA Candidate, Communication Studies, Wilfrid Laurier University
Highway of tears: A road of colonial legacies

Katie Warwick, MA Candidate, Communication Studies, Wilfrid Laurier University
Trains to nowhere: Rail transport during the Holocaust

Kayleigh Thompson, MA Candidate, Political Economy, Carleton University
Control, mobility, and independence: Foreign women negotiating Jamaican masculinity in Negril, Jamaica

CHAIR: Stacey Cook

11:10am-12:10pm: PANEL #2 – (Un)Equal Identities

Sara Abdel-Latif, PhD Candidate, Department for the Study of Religion, University of Toronto
Maryam Khan, PhD Candidate, School of Social Work, York University
Sarah Shah, PhD Candidate & Lecturer, Department of Sociology, University of Toronto
Intersectional subjectivities: Queer Muslim positionality resisting binaristic constructions

Sara Singh, PhD Candidate, Public Policy, Ryerson University
Inclusive post-secondary education for students with intellectual disabilities: A case study of program diffusion in Alberta, Canada

Gazel Manuel, MA Candidate, Department of Sociology & Anthropology, Carleton University
"Why isn't Filipino Cuisine Mainstream?": Ruminations from Filipino chefs and restaurant owners in Winnipeg and Ottawa

Siobhan Saravanamuttu, MA Candidate, Political Science (Feminist Political Economy), York University
Migrant labour precarity: The case of Sri Lankan domestic workers in the Gulf region

CHAIR: Adam Christianson
12:15-1:00pm: Lunch (provided)

1:00-1:45pm: Keynote Lecture – Navigating the Political

Dr. Justin Paulson (Associate Professor, Carleton University)
Department of Sociology and Anthropology & the Institute of Political Economy

1:45-2:00pm: Coffee Break

2:00-3:00pm: PANEL #3 - States and Society

Jon Careless, PhD Candidate, Political Science, York University
Exploring perspectives on gentrification: How might it be rooted in multi-scalar state action?

Daniella Bendo, PhD Student, Department of Law and Legal Studies, Carleton University
The role of Canada's child and youth advocates: A social constructionist approach

Lucas Jerusalimieic, MA Candidate, Political Science, Carleton University
NATO as a polyphonic organization: A systems theory approach to communicative confusion

Isaac Nunoo, PhD Candidate, School of International and Public Affairs, Jilin University (China)
The paradox of western democratic ideological identity in the 21st century: A review of the democratic peace theory

CHAIR: Matt Sanscartier

3:10-4:10pm: PANEL #4 – Decolonization: Methods, Movements, and Moments

James Beirne, MA Candidate, Social & Political Thought, York University
Fuzzy borders: Mapping postcoloniality in Ireland

Evan Klim, MA Candidate, Department of Sociology & Anthropology, Carleton University
Rooting Indigenous feminism and decolonizing the myth of Canada's Nationhood

Christian Filip, MA Candidate, Political Economy, Carleton University
"She is morena, or brown-skinned—she could only work interpreting the roles of maids": On racial hierarchy and paid domestic work in Mexico

CHAIR: Daniel Rogei

4:10-4:15pm: SAGSC Conference Committee Day One Closing Remarks

Day one debrief at Mike’s Place!
DAY TWO – Saturday, April 1st, 2017

9:00-9:15am: SAGSC Conference Committee Day Two Opening Remarks

9:15-9:30am: Coffee Break

9:30-10:30am: PANEL #5 – Harms of Punishment and Mass Incarceration

Kira Hogarth-Davis, MA Candidate, Social and Political Thought, York University
The changing state of mass incarceration: Disrupting self-evident rationale in Canadian prison policy

Dillon Wamsley, MA Candidate, Political Science, York University
Displacement, debt, and mass incarceration in the US: Criminalizing poverty in the disciplinary neoliberal era

Laura McKendy, PhD Candidate, Department of Sociology & Anthropology, Carleton University
Theorizing the role of physical harm in punishment: Experiences at the Ottawa-Carleton Detention Centre

Janelle Douthwright, MA Candidate, Criminology, University of Toronto
Employer discrimination against applicants with criminal records: An ethnographic audit study

CHAIR: Samantha McAleese

10:40-11:40am: PANEL #6 – Policing and Security

Daniel Konikoff, MA Candidate, Criminology and Sociolegal Studies, University of Toronto
Caught on camera: The widening of police visibility and its effects on officer behaviour and practice

Deirdre McDonald, PhD Candidate, Department of Sociology & Anthropology, Carleton University
Marcella Siqueiera Cassiano, PhD Candidate, Department of Sociology, University of Alberta
Economic and cultural deviance: Unraveling ‘criminalization of poverty’ discourse in Canada

CHAIR: Morgan Rochon

11:45am-12:30pm: Lunch (provided)

12:30-1:30pm: PANEL #7 - Three Takes on the Anthropological Imagination

Sheridan County, Undergraduate Student in Anthropology (Honours), Carleton University
Aboriginal women and sex-work in Canada: Degeneracy, violence, and disposability

Alexandra Hine, Undergraduate Student in Anthropology (Honours), Carleton University
Colonial legacies: Cultural constructions of pain in North American childbirth practices

Jasmine Macaulay, Undergraduate Student in Anthropology (Honours), Carleton University
Space, work, and the modern cottager

CHAIR: Dr. Marie-Eve Carrier-Moisan

1:30-1:45pm: Coffee Break
1:45-2:45pm: PANEL #8 - Theoretical Discussions

Marcus Charlesworth, MA Candidate, Political Science, Carleton University
Humanitarian intervention and the ethic of culpability

Graham Lockett, PhD Student, Social and Political Thought, York University
Desire and resistance: Foucault and Deleuze on thinking the outside

Carter Vance, MA Candidate, Institute of Political Economy, Carleton University
Unwilling consumers: A historical materialist conception of compulsory sexuality

Tyler Hale, PhD Student, Department of Sociology & Anthropology, Carleton University
Ideology by design

CHAIR: Rhys Steckle

2:55-3:55pm: PANEL #9 – Storytelling and Use of Narratives in Research

Andrew Jones, PhD Candidate, Political Science, York University
The political role of mythology in the 21st century

Morgan Rochon, MA Candidate, Department of Sociology & Anthropology, Carleton University
The GIFT box: Unwrapping the 'truth' about sex trafficking

Kate Ross, MA Candidate, Department of Sociology, Acadia University
Punk, power, and patriarchy: The exploration of discrimination within the US 1990's Riot Grrrl Movement

Matthew Johnston, PhD Student, Department of Sociology & Anthropology, Carleton University
Reflections on doing transgender research: What I learned as a cisgender man

CHAIR: Laura McKendy

4:00-4:15pm: SAGSC Conference Committee Day Two Closing Remarks

Post-Conference Social at Pour Boy Pub @ 5:30pm

495 Somerset Street West

This conference would not be possible without the help of our generous sponsors:

Carleton University Graduate Students’ Association

Carleton University’s Faculty of Graduate and Postdoctoral Affairs

Carleton University’s Department of Sociology & Anthropology

Thank you!