SOCI 5401 Critical Disability Studies

Instructor	Alexis Shotwell
Term	Fall 2024
Course Delivery	In person
Email Address	alexisshotwell@cunet.carleton.ca

COURSE DESCRIPTION

Course engages contemporary disability theory, culture, and activism to consider bodily difference and its relation to the workings of power and social control, accessibility, normalization, ableism, and medicalization. Students will gain an understanding of the contemporary debates, theories, and methodologies of critical disability studies.