Department of Sociology and Anthropology
SOCI 1001 A

Fall, 2025

Introduction to Sociology I

Lecture: Fridays 12:35- 2:25

Tutorials: in person, various classrooms, after lecture

Instructor: Dr. Tonya Davidson

Office Hours: Wednesdays 1-3pm, Thursdays 3-5pm

Email: tonya.davidson@carleton.ca

Pre-requisites & Precluded Courses: Precludes additional credit for SOCI 1003.

Method of Delivery: lectures and tutorial discussions

In this course, you are expected to learn from your texts, your teacher and from one another. This requires striving towards understanding each other but it does not imply striving towards finding agreement. Our class will be racially, religiously, politically, culturally, generationally, and economically diverse. We will be of different gender identifications and sexual orientations and our lived experiences and reactions to the course material will reflect this diversity. Sharing our perspectives and interpretations on the course material will enhance everyone's learning experience and you are encouraged to openly express any disagreements with the authors you will read, with your fellow classmates, or with the Professor in the different participation fora that are available for this course. However, you are expected to conduct yourself in such a way that shows the utmost respect to others who may – or may not – share your views. Derogatory comments and hateful behavior towards others (and their views) will not be tolerated.

Carleton University acknowledges the location of its campus on the traditional, unceded territories of the Algonquin nation. In doing so, Carleton acknowledges it has a responsibility to the Algonquin people and a responsibility to adhere to Algonquin cultural protocols.

Course Description and Objectives:

Introduction to the discipline of sociology; theory, methods, history; key thinkers, concepts and disciplinary subfields in sociology; issues and problems in contemporary society. Emphasis on the everyday world of lived experience and social relations. Topics may include class, gender, sexuality, racialization, culture, social interaction.

Learning Outcomes:

At the end of this course, students should be able to:

- Identify different sociological theories (Marxism, symbolic interactionism, feminism, critical race theory)
- Apply sociological theories to new social phenomena
- Recall central sociological questions in a breadth of areas of study (gender, race, social class, sexuality, disability, religion)
- Closely read and take notes on academic texts
- Take notes while listening to a lecture
- Use appropriate studying techniques to successfully pass short-answer and multiple-choice tests

Citation Style

The Chicago author-date citation style (17th edition) is to be used in the assignments and papers of this course. For more information, please see:

https://www.chicagomanualofstyle.org/tools_citationguide/citation-guide-2.html

AI Policy:

The use of generative AI is not necessary and not permitted in this course.

Course Requirements & Methods of Evaluation:

TYPE	WEIGHT	DUE DATE
Tutorial participation	15%	Ongoing
Weekly tests	10 X 5= 50%	Weekly (except for the first week and last week of the semester)
Lecture notes portfolio	15%	October 31 st
Final exam	20%	In December exam period

Tutorial Participation:

Attending weekly tutorials is an essential part of the course. 15% of your final grade will come from attendance and participation in tutorial discussions and activities. Each week you should come to the tutorial prepared, having done your reading, attended lecture, and prepared to engage with the course material with other students and the Teaching Assistant. 50% of this mark will be an attendance mark. 50% of this mark will be based on activities designed and marked by the TA. Participation marks cannot be 'made-up'.

Weekly tests:

In the last 30 mins of every lecture there will be a reading comprehension test based on the assigned reading for that week. For example, on October 3rd, the test will be on Chapter 20 by Patrizia Albanese in the assigned textbook.

Why are there so many tests?

- Class discussions, tutorials, and course engagement are greatly improved when students come to class prepared, having done the assigned readings
- A key learning outcome of this course is to encourage students to develop their academic reading skills, studying skills, and ability to recall material
- Ongoing tests are pedagogically preferable to fewer assignments with higher stakes; students are less likely to procrastinate on doing course readings, skip classes, etc.
- Prof. Davidson is still grappling with the impacts of artificial intelligence on students' writing assignments. In-class tests are seen as preferable to devoting TA and professor time to AI policing.

Students with accommodations will have their accommodations met for these tests. For all students missed tests can be made-up within two weeks of the missed test in Prof. Davidson's office hours. No appointment necessary. (Office hour details at top of syllabus).

Lecture Notes Portfolio: see Brightspace for full assignment details

Late penalty= 2%/ business day (unless accommodations have been made with the professor)

Final Exam

The final exam will take place in the December exam period. This date is set by the university and is out of the professor's control.  the final exam will be cumulative *Check the exam schedule before you make any travel plans.

Carleton is committed to providing academic accessibility for all individuals. You may need special arrangements to meet your academic obligations during the term. The accommodation request processes, including information about the Academic Consideration Policy for Students in Medical and Other Extenuating Circumstances, are outlined on the Academic Accommodations website (<https://students.carleton.ca/course-outline/>). For an accommodation request, the processes are as follows:

Academic Accommodations for Students with Disabilities

The Paul Menton Centre for Students with Disabilities (PMC: <https://carleton.ca/pmc/>) provides services to students with Learning Disabilities (LD), psychiatric/mental health disabilities, Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD), Autism Spectrum Disorders (ASD), chronic medical conditions, and impairments in mobility, hearing, and vision. If you have a disability requiring academic accommodations in this course, please contact PMC at 613-520-6608 or pmc@carleton.ca for a formal evaluation. If you are already registered with the PMC, contact your PMC coordinator to send your Letter of Accommodation at the beginning of the term, and no later than two weeks before the first in-class scheduled test or exam requiring accommodation (if applicable).

*The deadline for contacting the Paul Menton Centre regarding accommodation for October/November examinations is October 1, 2025 and November 15, 2025 for December examinations.

For Religious Obligations:

Please contact your instructor with any requests for academic accommodation during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist. For more details, visit the Equity Services website: www.carleton.ca/equity/wp-content/uploads/Student-Guide-to-Academic-Accommodation.pdf

For Pregnancy:

Please contact your instructor with any requests for academic accommodation during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist. For more details, visit the Equity Services website: www.carleton.ca/equity/wp-content/uploads/Student-Guide-to-Academic-Accommodation.pdf

For Survivors of Sexual Violence

As a community, Carleton University is committed to maintaining a positive learning, working and living environment where sexual violence will not be tolerated, and where survivors are supported through academic accommodations as per Carleton's Sexual Violence Policy. For more information about the services available at the university and to obtain information about sexual violence and/or support, visit: www.carleton.ca/sexual-violence-support

Accommodation for Student Activities

Carleton University recognizes the substantial benefits, both to the individual student and for the university, that result from a student participating in activities beyond the classroom experience. Reasonable accommodation must be provided to students who compete or perform at the national or international level. Please contact your instructor with any requests for academic accommodation during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist. <https://carleton.ca/senate/wp-content/uploads/Accommodation-for-Student-Activities-1.pdf>

Plagiarism

Plagiarism is the passing off of someone else's work as your own and is a serious academic offence. For the details of what constitutes plagiarism, the potential penalties and the procedures refer to the section on Instructional Offences in the Undergraduate Calendar. Students are expected to familiarize themselves with and follow the Carleton University Student Academic Integrity Policy (See <https://carleton.ca/registrar/academic-integrity/>). The Policy is strictly enforced and is binding on all students. Academic dishonesty in any form will not be tolerated. Students who infringe the Policy may be subject to one of several penalties.

What are the Penalties for Plagiarism?

A student found to have plagiarized an assignment may be subject to one of several penalties including but not limited to: a grade of zero, a failure or a reduced grade for the piece of academic work; reduction of final grade in the course; completion of a remediation process; resubmission of academic work; withdrawal from course(s); suspension from a program of study; a letter of reprimand.

What are the Procedures?

All allegations of plagiarism are reported to the faculty of Dean of FASS and Management. Documentation is prepared by instructors and departmental chairs. The Dean writes to the student and the University Ombudsperson about the alleged plagiarism. The Dean reviews the allegation. If it is not resolved at this level then it is referred to a tribunal appointed by the Senate.
