DEPARTMENT OF SOCIOLOGY AND ANTHROPOLOGY

SOCI/ANTH3045
2026 SUMMER
CHILDREN AND CHILDHOOD IN A GLOBALIZED WORLD

PRELIMINARY COURSE OUTLINE (20260430)

WELCOME TO SOCI/ANTH3045! PLEASE FIND THE COURSE DETAILS BELOW AND REACH OUT ANYTIME IF YOU HAVE QUESTIONS

Instructor: Dr. Xiaobei Chen

Email: xiaobei.chen@carleton.ca

Office Hours: zoom meetings by appointment

Classes: asynchronized, Tuesdays and Thursdays

Brightspace: Students are to check Brightspace at least once daily for course related announcements and other communications.

Pre-requisites & Precluded Courses: SOCI 1001 and SOCI 1002, or SOCI 1003 [1.0], or ANTH 1001, or ANTH 1002, and third-year standing.

In this course, you are expected to learn from your texts, your teacher and from one another. This requires striving towards understanding each other but it does not imply striving towards finding agreement. Our class will be racially, religiously, politically, culturally, generationally, and economically diverse. We will be of different gender identifications and sexual orientations and our lived experiences and reactions to the course material will reflect this diversity. Sharing our perspectives and interpretations on the course material will enhance everyone's learning experience and you are encouraged to openly express any disagreements with the authors you will read, with your fellow classmates, or with the Professor in the different participation fora that are available for this course. However, you are expected to conduct yourself in such a way that shows the utmost respect to others who may – or may not – share your views. Derogatory comments and hateful behavior towards others (and their views) will not be tolerated.

Carleton University acknowledges the location of its campus on the traditional, unceded territories of the Algonquin nation. In doing so, Carleton acknowledges it has a responsibility to the Algonquin people and a responsibility to adhere to Algonquin cultural protocols.

COURSE DESCRIPTION

A socio-historical and comparative exploration of social constructions and experiences of childhood in Canada and internationally. Topics include: doing research on and with children, social construction of childhood, social patterns of experiences of childhood including inequalities and intersections, children's rights and citizenship politics, the figure of the child in colonialism, migration, culture wars, and conflicts.

LEARNING OUTCOMES

This course strives for a balance between the search for understanding, the acquisition of essential knowledge and concepts, and the development/improvement of skills:

1. Knowledge: students are expected to explore and to know about the following important and relevant contents: social construction of childhood; experiences of childhood in Canada and internationally; the figure of the child in social and political discourses.
2. Concepts: students are to learn and to engage with ideas that are central to critical understandings of childhood: social construction of childhood, children's rights, agency, intersectionality, etc.
3. Research skills: students are to improve skills in formulating research questions, gathering, assessing and synthesizing a range of information to answer research questions.
4. Critical thinking skills: students are to further develop capacities to apply acquired knowledge, certain key concepts, lines of inquiry, and arguments outlined above to relevant issues, through analyzing information, identifying connections between an issue and the larger social context, evaluating different approaches to an issue, formulating and defending arguments and/or solutions.
5. Communication skills: throughout the coursework, students are to strengthen the following skills: close reading skills and speed reading skills; gathering and evaluating sources; writing accurately, reliably, and engagingly for intended audiences.

5 reading responses assignments 50% midnight of the day of the class

Take-home exam

midnight of June 27, 2026

Reading responses assignments

You will submit five (5) reading responses. You will choose for which class to write your reading response. Each reading response will require you to write a short commentary (2-3 paragraphs) in response to all of the questions posed about the readings, lectures, videos, and other materials for that class. Each of these assignments is small and designed to help you reflect upon what you have learned. You are expected to complete them by midnight on the day of the class. See the “Schedule of Topics and Readings” below for the specific due dates for each of these assignments.

Each reading response assignment is worth 10% of your grade. They will each be graded out of 10, and your grade will be posted on Brightspace the week after submission.

Late submission of reading response assignments: Your reading responses will be graded if they are submitted late, as long as they are submitted by the last day for term work (June 27, 2026). Term work cannot be accepted after this date without a formal deferral from the Registrar’s Office. Late assignments will be penalized 1 point out of 10 if they are up to a week late, and 3 points out of 10 if they are more than a week late.

Take-home exam

The take-home exam will be released on the last day of class, i.e. June 16, 2026, and is due June 27, 2026, the last day of the exam period. LATE EXAMS CANNOT BE ACCEPTED WITHOUT A FORMAL DEFERRAL FROM THE REGISTRAR’S OFFICE.

* Minimum course requirements: Students who do not meet the following minimum requirements will automatically receive an F in the course: 1) submission of 5 reading responses; 2) submission of the take-home exam.

Citation Style

The Chicago author-date citation style (17th edition) is to be used in the assignments and papers of this course. For more information, please see:

 - Rosen and Crafter.
 - Quote the sentence(s) that states the authors’ central argument.
 - Closely examine Section “The Troubles of and with ‘Separated Child Migrants’”. Assess how strongly the evidences presented in this section support the paper’s central argument.

CLASS 3

Thursday May 14

- Chapter 2. Diane Farmer. “You even wrote down our homework!”: ethnography and creative visual methods in doing research along with children and young people.”
- Chapter 4. Marnina Gonick. “About us, by us and other stories of arts-based research and marginalized girls.”
- Jamie Liew. 2022. Dandelion. About 20 pages.
- Weekly reading response #2 (due May 14 @ 11:59pm). Write 400-500 words (in total) about to respond to the following:
 - Chapter 2. Farmer.
 - Respond to the following study question on p.64: “In your view, what does it take in order to create a positive space for self-inquiry in research with children and youth? How could this be done in infusing student inquiry-based learning in school curriculum?”

- Chapter 4. Gonick.
 - Respond to the following study question on p.101: “In looking around you at the narratives and images of girls/young people currently in the media, in movies, and in the news, do you see your own experiences represented? What stories are missing? How do you account for which stories get told and which do not?”

CLASS 4

Tuesday May 19

- Chapter 6. Jihan Abbas. “Perceptions of our childhood: confronting social constructions of care, disability, and childhood.”
- Ana Patricia Hilario. 2021. “Sibling caring roles and responsibilities when a child suffers from a chronic illness.” Sociology Compass 16(1), 1-11.

Carleton is committed to providing academic accessibility for all individuals. You may need special arrangements to meet your academic obligations during the term. The accommodation request processes, including information about the Academic Consideration Policy for Students in Medical and Other Extenuating Circumstances, are outlined on the Academic Accommodations website (<https://students.carleton.ca/course-outline/>). For an accommodation request, the processes are as follows:

Academic Accommodations for Students with Disabilities

The Paul Menton Centre for Students with Disabilities (PMC: <https://carleton.ca/pmc/>) provides services to students with Learning Disabilities (LD), psychiatric/mental health disabilities, Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD), Autism Spectrum Disorders (ASD), chronic medical conditions, and impairments in mobility, hearing, and vision. If you have a disability requiring academic accommodations in this course, please contact PMC at 613-520-6608 or pmc@carleton.ca for a formal evaluation. If you are already registered with the PMC, contact your PMC coordinator to send your Letter of Accommodation at the beginning of the term, and no later than two weeks before the first in-class scheduled test or exam requiring accommodation (if applicable).

*The deadline for contacting the Paul Menton Centre regarding accommodation for June examinations is June 1, 2026 and August 1, 2026 for August examinations.

For Religious Obligations:

Please contact your instructor with any requests for academic accommodation during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist. For more details, visit the Equity Services website: www.carleton.ca/equity/wp-content/uploads/Student-Guide-to-Academic-Accommodation.pdf

For Pregnancy:

Please contact your instructor with any requests for academic accommodation during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist. For more details, visit the Equity Services website: www.carleton.ca/equity/wp-content/uploads/Student-Guide-to-Academic-Accommodation.pdf

For Survivors of Sexual Violence

As a community, Carleton University is committed to maintaining a positive learning, working and living environment where sexual violence will not be tolerated, and where survivors are supported through academic accommodations as per Carleton's Sexual Violence Policy. For more information about the services available at the university and to obtain information about sexual violence and/or support, visit: www.carleton.ca/sexual-violence-support

Accommodation for Student Activities

Carleton University recognizes the substantial benefits, both to the individual student and for the university, that result from a student participating in activities beyond the classroom experience. Reasonable accommodation must be provided to students who compete or perform at the national or international level. Please contact your instructor with any requests for academic accommodation during the first two weeks of class, or as soon as possible after the need for accommodation is known to exist. <https://carleton.ca/senate/wp-content/uploads/Accommodation-for-Student-Activities-1.pdf>

Plagiarism

Plagiarism is the passing off of someone else's work as your own and is a serious academic offence. For the details of what constitutes plagiarism, the potential penalties and the procedures refer to the section on Instructional Offences in the Undergraduate Calendar. Students are expected to familiarize themselves with and follow the Carleton University Student Academic Integrity Policy (See <https://carleton.ca/registrar/academic-integrity/>). The Policy is strictly enforced and is binding on all students. Academic dishonesty in any form will not be tolerated. Students who infringe the Policy may be subject to one of several penalties.

Generative Artificial Intelligence Tools (e.g. ChatGPT)

Unless explicitly permitted, either generally or for a specific assignment, any use of generative AI tools to produce assessed content is considered a violation of academic integrity standards.

As our understanding of the uses of AI and its relationship to student work and academic integrity continue to evolve, students are required to discuss their use of AI in any circumstance not described here with the course instructor to ensure it supports the learning goals for the course.

Note: Students can also access resources related to citing Generative AI on the MacOdrum Library website.

What are the Penalties for Plagiarism?

A student found to have plagiarized an assignment may be subject to one of several penalties including but not limited to: a grade of zero, a failure or a reduced grade for the piece of academic work; reduction of final grade in the course; completion of a remediation process; resubmission of academic work; withdrawal from course(s); suspension from a program of study; a letter of reprimand.

What are the Procedures?

All allegations of plagiarism are reported to the faculty of Dean of FASS and Management. Documentation is prepared by instructors and departmental chairs. The Dean writes to the student and the University Ombudsperson about the alleged plagiarism. The Dean reviews the allegation. If it is not resolved at this level then it is referred to a tribunal appointed by the Senate.
