Field of Specialization: Indigenous Policy and Administration

Academic Unit: Public Policy and Administration

Category of Appointment: Preliminary (Tenure-Track)

Rank/Position Title: Assistant or Associate Professor

Start Date: July 1, 2019

Closing Date: Consideration of complete applications will begin on October 15, 2018 and continue until the position is filled

About the Position:
The School of Public Policy and Administration at Carleton University invites applications for a tenure-track appointment at the rank of Assistant or Associate Professor in Indigenous Policy and Administration, effective July 1, 2019.

The successful candidate will be a member of the School of Public Policy and Administration, with core responsibilities for research, supervision, teaching and the ongoing program development in the School's graduate programs in Indigenous Policy and Administration. There may also be an opportunity for a 0% cross-appointment in the School of Indigenous and Canadian Studies.

About the Academic Unit:
The School is a recognized centre of academic excellence in public policy and management. It is the largest and oldest school of its kind in Canada and is well known internationally, offering a PhD Public Policy, Master of Public Policy and Administration, Master of Philanthropy and Nonprofit Leadership, a joint MA in Sustainable Energy Policy, the graduate Diploma in Public Policy and Program Evaluation, and the graduate Diploma in Indigenous Policy and Administration. The School's multidisciplinary faculty members are engaged in diverse research and teaching initiatives, and are regularly called upon for their expertise by government departments, NGOs and international agencies. More information on the IPA is available at www.carleton.ca/sppa/ipa-2/ and on the School at www.carleton.ca/sppa.

Qualifications:
Candidates require a PhD in a relevant discipline by July 1, 2019 or soon thereafter. They must also demonstrate promise of excellence in research and teaching related to Indigenous policy and administration. Priority will be given to candidates with active research programs and teaching competencies that reflect the diversity of First Nation, Metis and Inuit circumstances in Canada, and who have developed expertise in models of Indigenous governance, intergovernmental affairs, and economic and community development. A variety of methodological approaches is welcome and encouraged. Experience living in an Indigenous setting or working with Indigenous organizations and governments would be an asset. Persons who identify as Indigenous are particularly invited to apply.

Application Instructions:
Applications should include a cover letter explaining the applicant's interest in the School and the Indigenous Policy and Administration program, as well as a curriculum vitae, a statement of research interest, a teaching portfolio with a statement of teaching philosophy and evidence of effectiveness, and one or more research papers or publications to serve as writing samples. The application materials should be sent electronically as a single pdf document to: Dr. Graeme Auld, Director, School of Public Policy and Administration, graeme_auld@carleton.ca. Applicants should also arrange to have three confidential letters of reference sent electronically directly to the School. All materials should be submitted by October 15, 2018, but applications will continue to be accepted after this initial deadline. On-site interviews will occur throughout the fall and winter terms, until the position is filled.

Please indicate in your application if you are a Canadian citizen or permanent resident of Canada.

About Carleton University:
Carleton University is a dynamic and innovative research and teaching institution with a national and international reputation as a leader in collaborative teaching and learning, research and governance. To learn more about our university and the City of Ottawa, please visit www.carleton.ca/provost.

Carleton University is committed to fostering diversity within its community as a source of excellence, cultural enrichment, and social strength. We welcome those who would contribute to the further diversification of our university including, but not limited to: women; visible minorities; First Nations, Inuit and Métis peoples; persons with disabilities; and persons of any sexual orientation, gender identity and/or expression. Carleton understands that career paths vary. Legitimate career interruptions will in no way prejudice the assessment process and their impact will be taken into careful consideration.

Applicants selected for an interview are asked to contact the Chair as soon as possible to discuss any accommodation requirements. Arrangements will be made in a timely manner.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority. All positions are subject to budgetary approval.